Dedicatee-- Miss Moehl

MISS ERNA MOEHL keeps up-to-date in her profession in various ways.

She is truly a teacher.

With sparkling eye and firm chin, she leads us to knowledge. The things she teaches are worth learning. And so we trust her.

Not with stuffy pedantry that hides gold beneath tarnish but with simplicity underscored by honest interest coupled with wit does she teach. Her enthusiasm is contagious. Thus, we respect her.

Students to her are individuals, not mere class members. She values each one, and each one knows it. For this we are grateful.

Outlining her life is contact with others. Her door is open to those in need. She is one of those who give. And so we love her.

Her interests are not confined to campus. Both church and community know her well. Her life is full. Therefore, we praise her.

But really only one thing must be recorded, all other qualities are inherent in this truth. There is nothing more to say:

She is truly a teacher.

Foreword

Forward, upward, outward—from the age of today to the era of tomorrow, from the auto and air age to the space age.

In the year when man may break the space barrier, the subject of the space age is especially important. It is a symbol of man's attempts to reach out, to become more modern, "to break down the walls of tradition," according to a familiar phrase.

ONE OF THE symbols of the space age is the spire of the new Chapel-Auditorium, dedicated early last fall, and used in various ways in the art throughout this book. The point stretches toward the sky as a symbol of man's reaching toward God, even in the space age. There is also a reaching out into the future. One example of the church's looking into the future was the ALC merger with two other Lutheran bodies on January 1, 1961, thereby forming the new TALC.

Modernism is expressed in many ways—in art, in education, in civilization as a whole. Modernism and its symbols are almost synonymous with the space age.

MAY THIS 1961 edition of the FORTRESS not only look back to the past and present events, but reach out into the future. It is the hope of the editors that, were this FORTRESS put into a time capsule to be opened in a hundred years or more, it would accurately present a picture of life at Wartburg College today as well as show future generations that Wartburg College 1960-61 was on the right track toward preparing for their era.

The first man-made object went into space in October, 1957. Next to go into space was man himself in April of this year. Soon man will be on the moon and the closest planets.

Blast off with us now through the pages of this, your 1961 FORTRESS.

Home of the Knights

Space Age Building

SUPPORTED ON TWO sides by Luther Hall, the newest campus building boldly points its spire skyward. An outstanding feature of the stage in the Chapel-Auditorium is its complex system of lights and curtains.

FROM THE STAGE one views the magnificence of the structure, which at capacity seats 1,365 people.

THE FOYER, SCENE of much activity, presents the first impressive glimpse of what lies within the structure.

Symbol of Tradition

OLD MAIN CONSTANTLY stands as a symbolic tradition at Wartburg. Since its construction in 1880, it has remained primarily unchanged. Many offices and departments once harbored here have been relocated in newer buildings.

Ladies' Boudoirs

CENTENNIAL EAGERLY AWAITS the reality of a planned addition made necessary by increased enrollment.

BESIDES BEING A women's dormitory, Wartburg Hall houses the college bookstore and the nurse's office.

Knights' Quarters

NORTH HALL, ONCE housing the college cafeteria and now remodeled, proudly boasts traditions of its own.

A THIRD FLOOR was added to Grossmann Hall in 1949, making possible additional, adequate housing for men.

CLINTON HALL, BUILT in 1958, is the newest housing unit at Wartburg. The Crusaders of Clinton claim rooms unsurpassed by any. The building was constructed in a manner which will permit additions as the need arises.

Core of the Campus

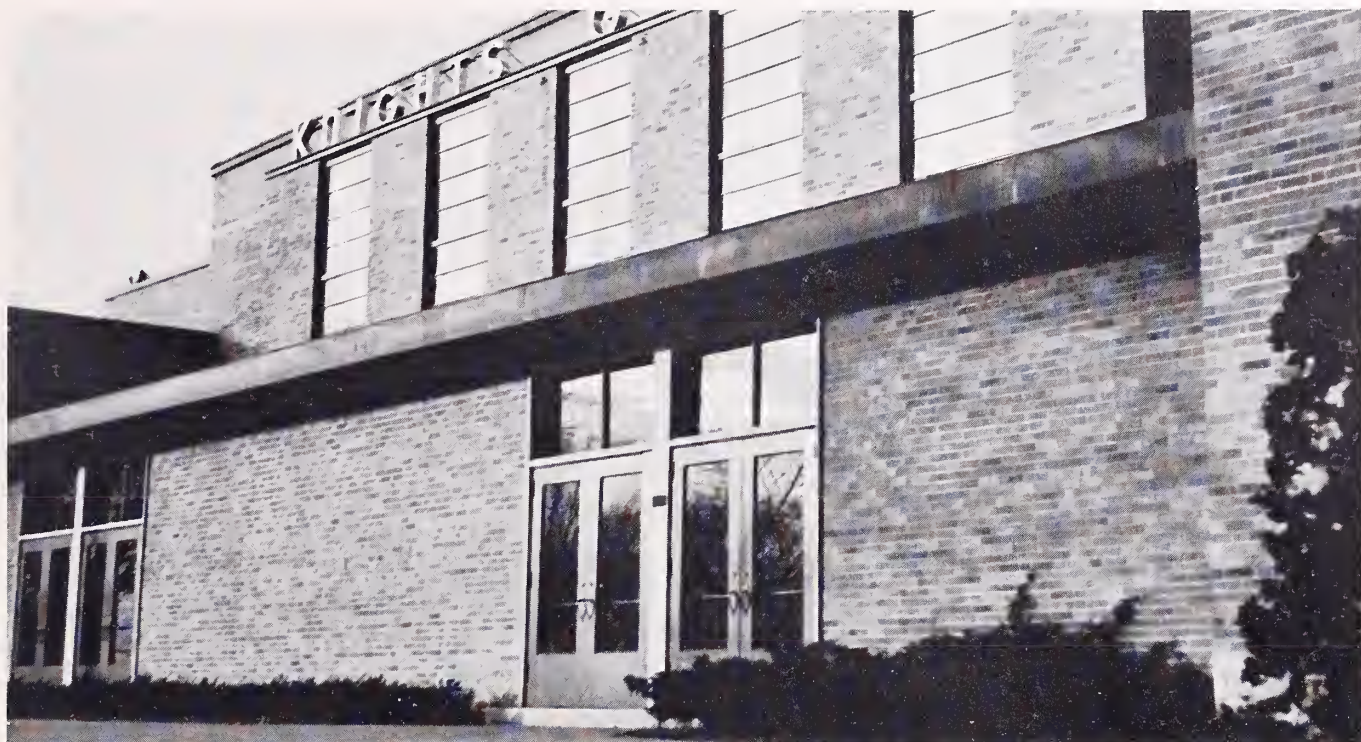

FINE ARTS CENTER was constructed in 1956 to provide a home for Wartburg's growing music and art family.

STUDENTS FIND INFORMATION unlimited in the thousands of books in the stacks at Homuth Memorial Library.

Hub of Activities

KNIGHTS GYMNASIUM, ROBBED of many functions by a newer campus building, may still boast of its seating capacity.

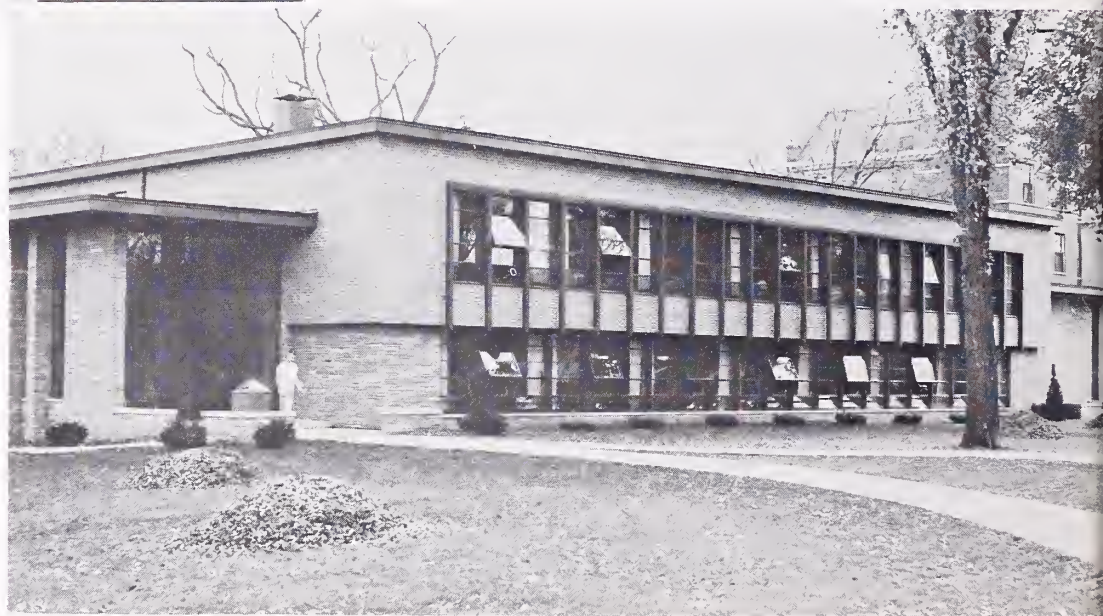

AN ADDITION WAS made to Schield Stadium this year to accommodate the crowds who cheer the Knights to victory.

Perpetual Pleasure

RELAXATION AND ENJOYMENT are on the menu for those who take advantage of the facilities of the Union.

AFTER YEARS OF transition, the Little Theatre is now established as a student social center.

SHELTERED UNDER THE elms, the Student Memorial Union has become the focal point of the campus.

Diverse Reflections

MOST STUDENTS PASS the fountain and dial daily and yet do not realize how traditional they have become.

ADJOINING THE STUDENT Union is Danforth Chapel, set aside for private meditation.

THIS SCENE IS part of every winter -- snow and the President's home.

Law and Lecturers

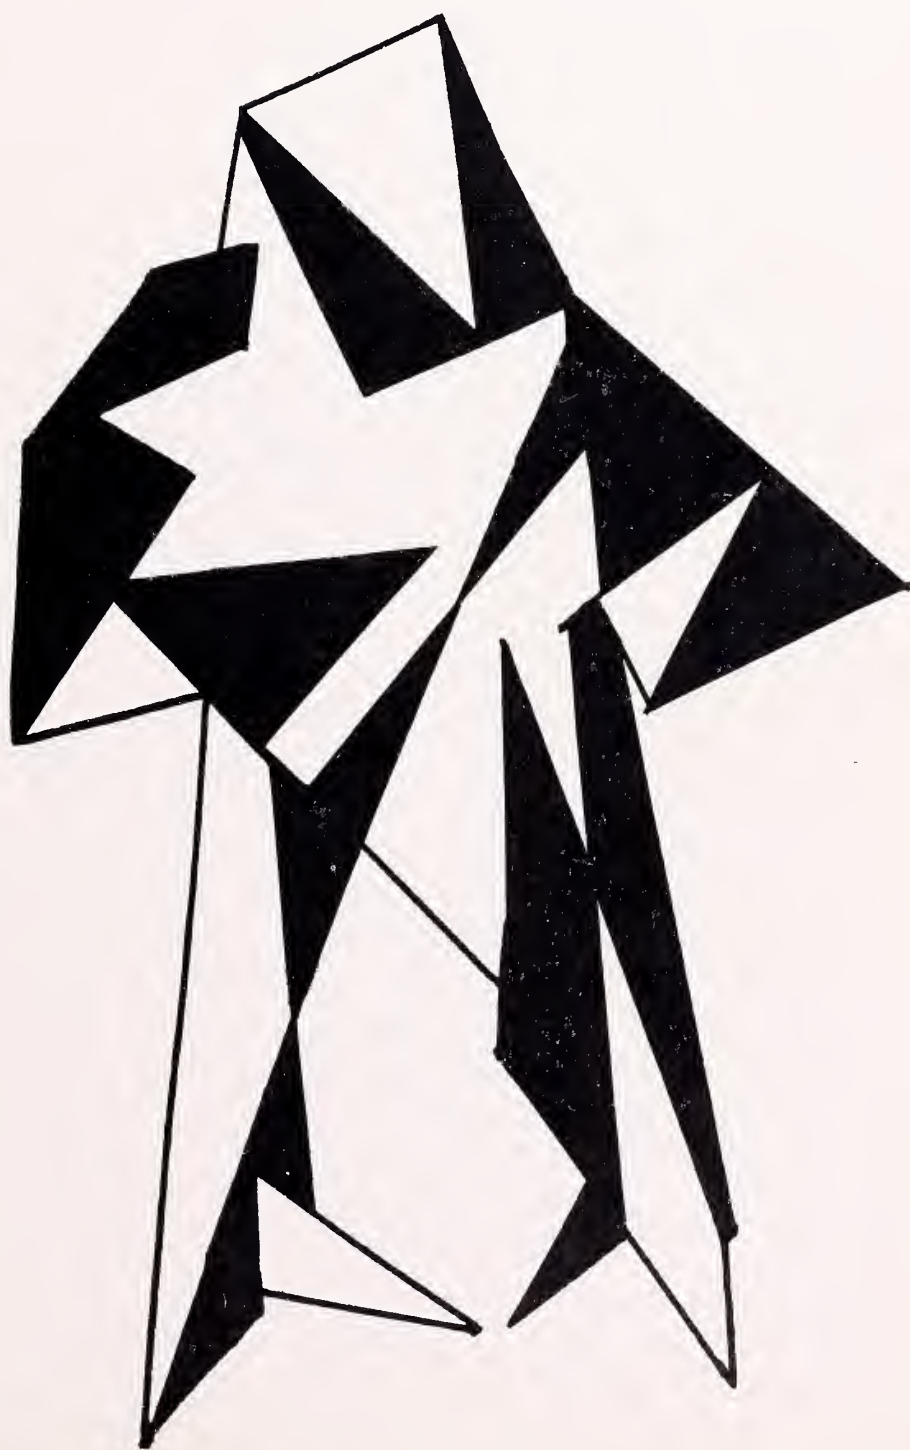

STUDENTS IN THE language lab learn to speak like natives.

LUTHER HALL, WHERE laws originate and are enforced and where lectures flow freely, looks quiet and serene in spite of the bustling activity within. With the addition of a language lab and the chapel, the building is busy all week.

Administration

Friend and Leader

DR. BECKER LOOKS from his office window at the campus he has helped to expand in his sixteen years as president.

The 1961 issue of the FORTRESS extends greetings not only to the members of the graduating class, to the students, to the alumni and friends of Wartburg College, but also to its new associates of The American Lutheran Church -- St. Olaf, Luther, Concordia at Moorhead, Augustana of Sioux Falls and Pacific Lutheran University.

As during the past eight years, so again this year the FORTRESS can report the completion of another building project, namely that of the beautiful Chapel-Auditorium. Now, for the first time, Wartburg students have their own inviting place of worship and a truly magnificent auditorium for convocations and other programs.

Many other accomplishments have been achieved this past year, which will be shown throughout the book.

Yes, the FORTRESS is happy to represent Wartburg College and to tell a story of vigor and growth, of happy and purposeful students and of a consecrated faculty and staff. It is eager, too, to tell of gratitude to God and of determination to do His will.

C. H. Becker

Wartburg has truly grown in the past few years. Throughout the Midwest its prestige has spread, and students are flowing in from an increasingly wide area. Foremost factor in this growth is Dr. C. H. Becker, Wartburg College president.

Dr. Becker began teaching at Wartburg in 1943, and in two years assumed the office of president.

When Dr. Becker became president in 1945, there were only about 175 students here and only six main buildings. In the post-war boom Dr. Becker guided Wartburg through a great expansion program that is still going on.

Students and alumni alike owe much to this man who modestly speaks of the growth of Wartburg without once mentioning his own great contributions to that growth. His enthusiasm and zest in behalf of Wartburg are truly contagious.

Setting the Pace

BOARD OF REGENTS -- Front row: Mrs. M. G. Christensen, Mrs. H. Graven, Miss H. Moehl. Second row: The Rev. W. C. Langholz, Mr. F. Miller, Mr. W. Voigts, Mr. F. Lentz, Dr. W. G.

Voecks. Back row: Mr. H. C. Engelbrecht, Dean J. O. Chellevoid, the Rev. H. C. Schiffler, Dr. W. L. Young, Dr. L. L. Belk, Mr. D. Winkjer, the Rev. L. Sherer, Dr. C. H. Becker, Mr. H. Schwerin.

DR. G. J. NEUMANN

Dr. Neumann is vice-president of Wartburg College, and as an English professor he both creates and teaches literature. Through the years he has made marked contributions to the college, especially in the field of languages and literature. Paralleling the observance of his fifty years at Wartburg, Dr. and Mrs. Neumann celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary in November.

MR. H. C. ENGELBRECHT

"Uncle Herb" checks blueprints and budgets for future additions to the Wartburg campus. These are only some of his many duties as business manager and assistant to the president. Public relations director before becoming business manager, he will go down in history as one of Wartburg's busiest men. He does much traveling for the college and is a friend in need to any student.

Regulating Welfare

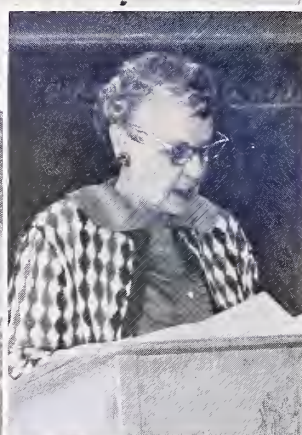

MISS MATTIE HARMS, registrar, makes registration procedures sound simple to the students.

FRED THOMPSON AND his secretary, Mrs. Raymond Norheim, handle college admissions.

DEAN EARNEST OPPERMANN visits with students as one aspect of the counseling service.

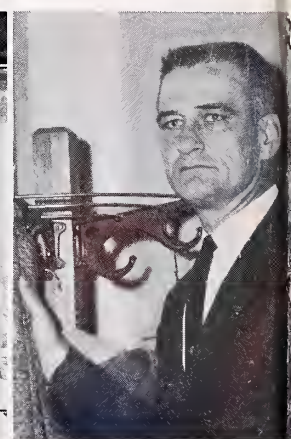

MRS. FLORENCE HERTLEIN instructs classes in addition to serving as dean of women.

TREASURER ELDORA FLUGGA handles student accounts and college finances.

NEWS DIRECTOR DUANE Schroeder sends out pictures as a part of the news release service.

THE REV. MARTIN Ackermann, development director, travels much, raising funds.

CHAPLAIN HERMAN DIERS brings inspirational thoughts to both students and faculty.

AS ALUMNI DIRECTOR, the Rev. Robert Gremmels keeps nation-wide chapters informed.

Energetic Support

The common goal of faculty and students is the imparting and pursuit of knowledge. Increasing faculty and student body have forced Wartburg to expand its building facilities, accommodations and courses offered. The Chapel-Auditorium and a thirty-unit language laboratory for active participation in foreign languages were added this year.

Seven promotions were given among the faculty members during the past year. The Rev. August Baetke was advanced to the rank of professor of sociology. The Rev. Edwin Schick, Dr. Wilmut Fruehling, Dr. Katherine Love and Mr. G. Rudolph Bjorgan were promoted to associate professorships. Mr. Richard Wiederanders and Dr. James E. Fritschel were ranked as assistant professors.

FIVE FACULTY MEMBERS were on leave of absence: the Rev. Waldemar Gies and Mr. C. Robert Larson, both semesters; Mr. G. Rudolph Bjorgan, first semester; Dr. Edwin Liemohn and Mr. Ronald Matthias, second semester.

Twelve new faculty members were added this year. Additions include Mr. Oscar V. Carlson, instructor of biology; Mr. Richard Davis, instructor of English; Mr. Walter Farwell, instructor of music; Mr. James Leamon, instructor of history and political science; Miss Nancy Mista, instructor of physical education; Mr. James Moniz, assistant professor of business administration and economics; Mr. David Olson, instructor of physical education and coaching; Mr. Trevor Owen, instructor of English; Mr. Richard Shellman, instructor of chemistry; Mrs. Marjorie Sowatsky Scholl, instructor of English; and the Rev. Gustav Riggert, part-time instructor of Christianity. Miss Elizabeth Martin was added as assistant librarian.

LONG SERVICE MADE eight eligible for recognition at the 1960 commencement: Dr. G. J. Neumann for fifty years, Mr. E. G. Heist for forty-five years of service to Wartburg College, Dr. A. W. Swensen and Dr. Gerhardt Ottersberg for more than thirty-five years, Mr. Carl Muench for thirty years, Dr. Alfred E. Haefner, Dr. Elmer W. Hertel and Dr. John O. Chellevoid for more than twenty-five years.

Members of the faculty presented a talent show in the fall to raise money for student scholarships. The faculty and staff in November hosted a reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Neumann on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

"Long Shadows," musical composition by Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, and "Facing Older Age in Bremer County" were published by the college.

In following the general trend, Wartburg has raised its standards in teacher education. Before entering their profession, teachers must have increased advanced preparation and training. This is being carried out in education classes by presenting innovations, such as television teaching, team teaching and automatic teaching. Special emphasis this year has been placed on the method of using teaching machines.

Eight requirements must be met by students entering teacher education, according to the Committee on Teacher Education, Education Policies Committee and faculty. The requirements include additional courses, a clear indication of professional goals and preferred level of preparation in the area of concentration, good moral character and a personal interview with a member of the department of education.

Whether one majors in elementary or secondary education, opportunities are available to practice modern methods of teaching during regular class hours in public or parochial schools. This final preparation enables students to apply new knowledge in the teaching field after graduation.

Psychology and its practical application are becoming more important to the individual and to the community.

The Library, supplementary to all courses, comes under the division of education and psychology. An extensive collection of periodical material is located in the periodical room. Countless volumes in the stacks provide useful and recreational reading.

Projectors, recorders, records and other audio-visual equipment are in the Library for student and faculty use.

Besides being a place for study and relaxation, the Library means part-time employment and a paycheck for nearly twenty Wartburg students.

"WHAT WOULD YOU do if you were a rat?" might be the question in this experiment conducted by Marv Ehnen.

Wartburg students are fortunate in having a great variety of courses offered by the Christianity department -- those dealing with man and religion, Christian doctrines, Bible study, history of the church and the practical application of religious faith.

As a church-affiliated college, Wartburg places special emphasis on its Christianity department. Through it, many are prepared for a full-time church calling, but equally important is the Christian background and spiritual strength it gives students destined for other professions.

Philosophy seeks man's concept of his existence, the principles regulating the universe and the ultimate reality. Philosophy is integrated with Christianity, aiding in man's search for God and the basis of his existence.

The Rev. Gustav Riggert supplemented the Christianity department part-time while the Rev. Waldemar Gies had a year's leave of absence for graduate work at the State University of Iowa.

ALONG WITH THE new Chapel-Auditorium came this office for the Rev. Herman Diers, college chaplain.

Biology-Phys. Ed.

"NOW, THIS MUST be . . ." explains senior Ken Skala to leading student biologists as they probe into the frog.

Biology and physical education go hand in hand in striving to understand and enjoy physical fitness.

Pre-professional students in veterinary medicine, forestry, dentistry and medicine receive basic training in this department. Graduates who will continue their studies in graduate school will be specialists in such fields as medicine, medical technology and teaching.

The division is sponsoring the "Visiting Scientist" program in cooperation with the National Science Foundation and the University of Iowa.

The future sees plans for a new science building, although construction will not begin for several years.

New to the teaching staff are Mr. Oscar B. Carlson, Miss Nancy Mista and Mr. David Olson. Dr. Elmer Hertel, who has been helping to build the division since the 1930's, is again chairman of this branch of knowledge at Wartburg.

Physical Sciences

Again the division of physical sciences can be proud of its work. Not only did it achieve success through its students, but the faculty members had a busy year of their own.

This year Mr. Richard Shellman replaced Dr. Charles Swenson in the chemistry department. Dr. Swenson had taught at Wartburg for two years.

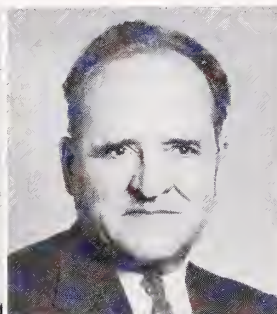

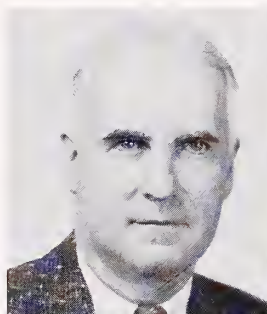

Once more the chairman of the division, Dr. A. W. Swensen, reports an eventful year. During the summer he headed the chemistry department in the National Science Foundation Institute at Mankato College, Mankato, Minnesota. He also recently became a member of that Foundation's visiting lecturer program, which contributes toward improvement of science teaching in Iowa high schools.

Studies of the atom, single quadratic equations, engineering drawing, force and energy are included in courses of this division. Inevitably, the students discover that as they continue to learn, they realize how little they really do know. Consequently, there is a constant, intriguing search to learn more about the physical sciences.

Accounting, business administration, economics, history, home economics, political science, social work and sociology are offered to comply with requirements of a liberal arts education. Because of the variety of courses involved, every student who comes to Wartburg will at some time come into contact with the division of social sciences. Students are taught how to face the complexities found in contemporary life, besides being prepared for occupations in various fields.

New to the division are James Moniz, economics and business administration, and James Leamon, history. Ronald Matthias had a second-semester leave of absence to study at Chicago University and Rudolph Bjorgan had a first-semester leave of absence for study at the University of Minnesota.

From the courses offered in the division of fine arts, students of Wartburg derive useful knowledge as well as entertainment and creativity. Through the media of art creations, piano, voice, organ and instruments, self-expression is attained. The constant aim of the division is to create and appreciate that which arises from increased understanding and study of the arts.

The outlets for expression are found in the Wartburg Band, Wartburg Choir, Castle Singers, dramatics, KWAR-FM, debate and art work.

A new pipe organ was installed in the choral room of the Fine Arts Center this fall.

New faculty members are Mr. Walter Farwell and Mr. Warren Schmidt, who returned this fall from a year's leave of absence for further study. On a leave of absence second semester was Dr. Edwin Liemohn, who went on a European tour to do research on choir and the organ in the Protestant church.

Campus Life

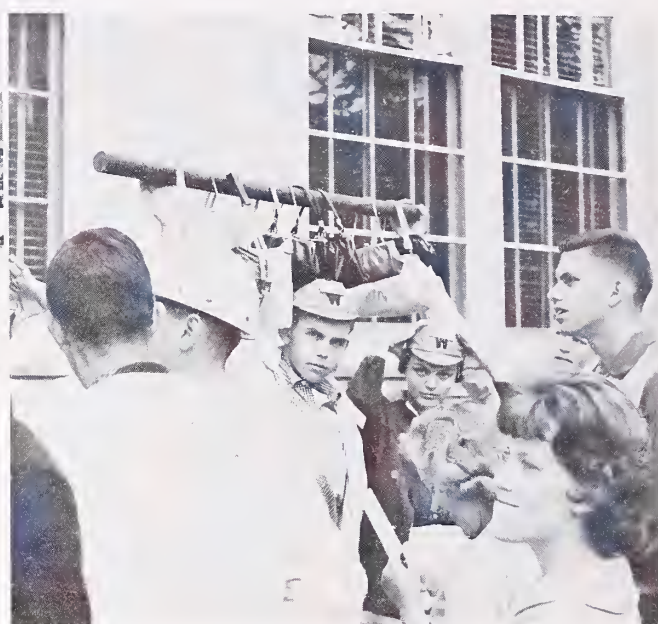

THE FRESHMAN LINE-UP bridges the Cedar River as sophomores make newcomers toe the mark on fall Outfly.

Openers: Talent, Tests and Trials

After a brief three-months' vacation, we returned to Wartburg to continue our college career, or we came as freshmen for our first taste of college life.

Sitting in the comfortable seats of the new Chapel-Auditorium was a pleasure for everyone. Perhaps the greatest pleasure for the freshmen, though, was Outfly, which marked the end of their official initiation.

As soon as upperclassmen could no longer require freshmen to "button," and the necessary orange beanies were put aside, it was difficult to distinguish between freshmen and upperclassmen. Once again the students were unified.

ANTICS BY THE "beanie set" leave no place for purses except above the heads of freshman "volunteers."

BEWILDERED FRESHMEN MEET frustrations of their first registration with the help of interested academic advisers.

SOPHOMORE SUPERVISION PROMOTES energetic activity as frosh clean cars and campus on workday.

SOPHOMORE SPLASH SCHEDULE is interrupted as Dean Oppermann pulls pond plug to produce peace for freshmen.

FORTRESS AND TRUMPET staff members encourage interest in publications work at Senate Night.

A RELIGIOUS CONVOCATION led by President Becker sets the tone for the school year.

THE TESTING PROGRAM gives four hundred Wartburg freshmen a taste of academic life.

BEARING THE THEME "Truth Triumphs" is a cross fashioned by members of the junior class.

Rain, Rain, Rain— Homecoming, 1960

A NAPKIN SHORTAGE hits Waverly each year at Homecoming as Wartburg students diligently stuff napkins into floats.

"W" CLUB'S GIANT knight rolls down Bremer Avenue to take second prize in the float contest.

Despite "Uncle Herb" Engelbrecht's prediction that Saturday would be sunny, Homecoming dawned dark and rainy. Their spirits not dampened, however, students hurriedly finished the floats for one of the best Homecoming parades ever presented at Wartburg College.

After a Knight victory over Iowa Wesleyan, an informal smorgasbord replaced the traditional banquet. That evening, the fellows escorted their dates to dance in "Southern Splendor" in the Knights Gymnasium.

Campus Christmas Glowing Festivity

"DECK THE HALLS with boughs of holly," hums Connie Wiechers as she decorates Centennial doors.

To students and faculty alike, holidays are a welcome relief from the everyday routine of college life. Perhaps in anticipation of the long vacation, preparation for Christmas is most enjoyable.

Christmas decorations on campus were complete when we greeted our first heavy snowfall of the season shortly before we headed home. The dorms took on a new appearance with their colorful apparel and seemed especially festive on the nights of the annual Christmas parties.

It was difficult to find time for studying and packing after attending all of the college functions, beginning with the Pi Sig winter formal. "Christmas at Wartbug" and the Chi Rho Candlelight Service awakened the true spirit of Christmas in everyone.

But--"There's no place like home for the holidays. . . ." Holidays -- truly welcome days!

Dorms--New Homes

Dorm life -- how exciting, frustrating and fascinating! Included in the never-ending challenge of communal living is the continuous competition of practical jokers, night owls and bookworms.

Many and lasting are the friendships developed between roommates and neighbors. Privacy is non-existent, but sharing experiences is real fun. How many exciting evenings are relived in midnight bull sessions?

"TWO STRAWS AND a coke" seem to be the winning combination for dates in the Den. What a clever money-saving device!

"Hi, this is Joe. How would you like to go to the game Friday night?" This is a commonly heard telephone conversation during the school year. It need not be a date for a game. Even if it is for a coke date in the Den, two people can have a lot of fun.

Whether it is a date for one of the formal dances or to one of the dances held in the Little Theater, a date to the Artist Series, a date to study in the library (How much studying can one do on a date?) dating is one of the most interesting aspects of college life.

Spiritual Emphasis Hm, Like So What?

"LIKE SO WHAT?" signs aroused students' curiosity and drew attention to a full schedule of activities.

An appropriate prelude to the Lenten season was Spiritual Emphasis Week, which was held on campus from February 5 to 10.

Dr. Harold E. Bernhard, Director of Religious Activities at Iowa State Teachers College, spoke at the opening worship service on Sunday. His subject was "This Jesus."

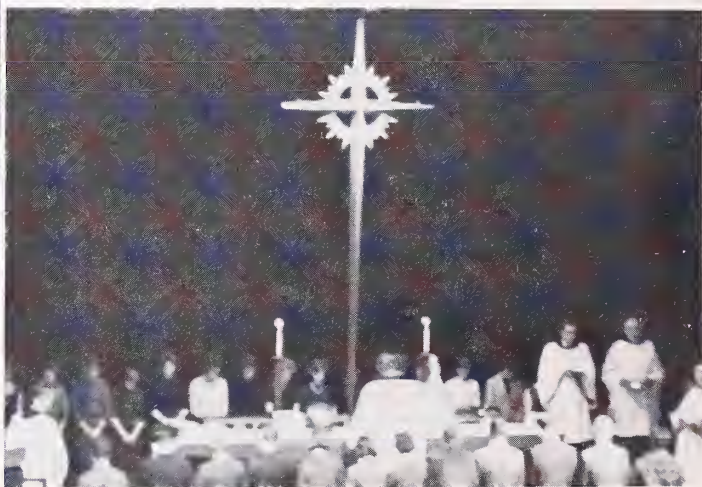

Professor Arndt L. Halvorson of Luther Seminary, St. Paul, was spiritual leader during the remainder of the week. "Satisfied with Jesus" was the theme which he presented in his messages at convocation and chapel.

Professor Halvorson's week included a luncheon with the Student Senate and one with organization presidents. He was also greeted at a faculty reception. In addition to being available for consultations during the day, Professor Halvorson held informal discussion sessions in several of the dorms in the evenings. "Behold His Hands" was the subject of his message at the Communion service, which climaxed the special week on Thursday night.

AMONG INTERESTED STUDENTS who exchanged opinions with Dr. Halvorson during his free hours was Gary Bergamo.

COMMUNION THURSDAY EVENING climaxed a series of thought-provoking services for the Wartburg community.

Branko Krsmanovich Chorus--Variety

An enthusiastic audience greeted the Branko Krsmanovich Chorus on October 19 at the first 1960-1961 Artist Series.

The chorus hails from Yugoslavia, and culture of that country was expressed in the music.

Regarded as one of Europe's oldest and most distinguished musical organizations, the chorus has attained many prizes and awards in its native country as well as all over Europe.

Bogdan Babich, director of the eighty-voice chorus, composed and arranged many of the numbers the chorus sang.

Variety, evident in the languages expressed, the types of music used and the style of presentation, was the keynote of the performance. Diversity in presenting solos, utilizing instruments and changing costumes, all added to the performance.

YOUTHFUL CHORUS MEMBERS, dressed in native costume, sing the final selection on their program -- a Yugoslavian hymn of patriotism. The audience showed its delight in the program by calling for three encores.

"Don Giovanni--" Five Curtain Calls

Mozart's "Don Giovanni" took the spotlight on November 14, when the Boris Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater staged the season's second Artist Series production. The entire opera was given in English, which added to the understanding and enjoyment of the audience.

The company of fifty was headed by Boris Goldovsky, known as "Mr. Opera" for his intermission commentaries on the Saturday matinee broadcasts from the Metropolitan Opera House.

Don Giovanni, a licentious Spanish nobleman, was played by Ronald Holgate. Iowa-born Paul Ukena took the role of Leporello, his comic henchman. The plot consisted of Giovanni's ventures in the pursuit of the many women in his life.

A new multi-projection permitted many scenery changes without loss of continuity, and colorful costumes distinguished characters.

This opera has often been called the greatest ever written. Five curtain calls proved the Wartburg audience agreed with the critics.

RONALD HOLGATE, STAR of "Don Giovanni," smiles as he leaves for the dressing room after a successful performance.

THE PAUSE THAT refreshes! Famous opera head, Boris Goldovsky, takes a break at intermission and chats with characters

Don Octavio and Masetto over a cup of coffee. The English translation was well received at Wartburg.

BEFORE THE PERFORMANCE Dr. Swensen and Dr. Liemohn discuss the program with members of the Beaux Arts Trio.

Beaux Arts Trio Master Musicians

Premiering as the first Artist Series in the new Chapel-Auditorium, the Beaux Arts Trio of New York took the spotlight on December 12.

Though the group is only five years old, it has played over 360 engagements throughout North America and Europe. The trio has acted as guest artists at several well-known music festivals.

The group includes Daniel Guilet, violinist; Bernard Greenhouse, cellist; and Menahem Pressler, pianist. Together the trio blended to form a pleasingly harmonic group.

Compliments have been accorded these musicians by many noted artists. Arturo Toscanini after hearing them play commented, "An inspiring experience . . . Fine chamber music with impeccable taste and musicianship."

The audience enthusiastically received the trio and enjoyed the repertoire of classical as well as lighter music.

A HEARTY LAUGH relieves tension for Trio musicians as they become better acquainted with Wartburg faculty representatives. The joke seems to be on Dr. Liemohn, who enjoys introducing Artist Series guest stars to college humor.

Canadian Players

'Caesar' Portrayal

One of the most impressive productions of the 1960-61 Artist Series season unfolded on January 19 in the Chapel-Auditorium as the Canadian Players presented Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar."

As the fourth program of the season, the change to spoken drama provided a variety from the usual musical fare.

Expert acting ability made up for the lack of elaborate scenery and props. In fact, this "bare-boards" style of production added to the intensity of the actual plot of the play. The great crowd scenes of the play were missing, as this was also a part of the style.

A cast of ten men and two women adequately portrayed the parts of an original cast of many characters.

The excellent acting and rapid movement from scene to scene held the attention of the audience throughout the production.

A LAST MINUTE brushing-up on lines backstage insures a good performance and helps pass the minutes until curtain time.

MEMBERS OF AN appreciative audience enjoy discussing the play with stars at a reception in the Union.

JENNIE TOUREL AND Richard Lewis pose together after the concluding number from the familiar opera "Carmen."

Tourel and Lewis Opera In Concert

Last of the season's Artist Series performances was the concert presented on January 30 by Richard Lewis and Jennie Tourel, vocal duo. Originally, a ballet was scheduled, but a strike forced cancellation of the ballet company's spring tour.

Richard Lewis, a tenor, came to Wartburg directly from London, where he soloed with the British Broadcasting Company Symphony.

Miss Tourel has appeared in Europe nine times, South America twice and Israel four times, in addition to South Africa and the United States. Last year she made three television appearances with conductor Leonard Bernstein. She premiered his "Jeremiah" Symphony in Pittsburgh, and Bernstein wrote two song cycles for her.

The singers presented individual selections with piano accompaniment. In the last number Lewis and Miss Tourel combined to present a selection from the opera "Carmen."

Their performance was well received by the audience of students and people from the surrounding area. It brought to a close another varied season of Wartburg Artist Series programs.

HEAVING A SIGH of relief as a major part of their work is completed, these members of the stage crew -- Mel Schulz, Bob Rosenberg, Ken Zellmer and Gerald Seitert -- relax after preparing the stage for the last of the Artist Series.

Queens

Fortress Queen

Andrea Richardson

ANDREA CAN'T BELIEVE her ears when she hears her name announced as queen.

Laughing, talking, shouting and crunching echoed in the gymnasium -- all the noises that usually go with a basketball game at half-time. Then, suddenly, a voice came over the loudspeaker. Mouths were closed and ears attentively listened for the name of the 1961 FORTRESS Queen.

A short introductory address stated that the queen had been chosen by members of the staff and would represent Wartburg in a contest sponsored by the Drake Relays. This she would attend if she placed in the semi-finals. Then her name was announced.

The new queen stood up. She was not only attractive, but was an active member of Wartburg society. Her work at the library desk besides membership in several organizations had made her well-known. With the cooperation of her fiancé, the FORTRESS was able to break into the busy schedule of Andrea Richardson to surprise her with a crown, an honor and the title of 1961 FORTRESS Queen.

HAVING RECOVERED FROM the shock, Andrea is escorted by Ed Scharlau of the Fortress staff to receive her crown.

Knights Set Record but Lose Crown

Although the Knights were dethroned as conference champs, they managed to set two new team records and four individual records.

The season record for the Knights was 6-2 in the Iowa Conference and 7-2 over-all.

Wartburg finished in third place behind Parsons and Luther, conference co-champions. The non-conference win came over Augustana of Rock Island, Illinois.

School records set by the team included the best rushing defensive mark and the most consecutive conference wins. The Knight line allowed only 810 yards rushing compared to the old low of 934, set in 1954. By winning their first two games this year, the Knights made it seventeen conference wins in a row to break the conference record of sixteen, set by Central in the early part of the 1940's.

Senior quarterback Marv Ott set three records by raising his previous highs. Wartburg College records include career total passing, 2,197 yards; most points during a career, 163; and career total offense, 3,275 yards.

Junior Dennis Krominga set the other record by kicking fourteen extra points during the season.

This feat gave him a career total and school record of 42.

All-Conference honors went to six Jomen. Those picked were first-team choices Marv Ott, offensive quarterback; Chuck Wallin, offensive tackle; Don Sowers and Tom Van Wyngarden, defensive linebackers; and second-team picks Wayne Dreier and Larry Collmann.

An unidentified Knight attempted a tackle while teammates Dennis Krominga and Duane Huth came over to lend a hand. First game of the season saw the Knights beating Simpson 14-0 after a bad first half. This was one example where the defense paved the way to victory.

Wayne Dreier racked up some yardage again Luther as the Knights won their seventeenth straight conference game. After giving the Norsemen their first score of the game on a fumble in the end zone the Knights came roaring back to win 20-7 in one of their best games of the year.

There's a big pile-up on the two-yard line as the Knights try for the extra point. Hopes for an undefeated season were crushed as Parsons beat Wartburg 18-12 without any extra points. After building up a 12-0 half-time lead, the Knights fell before a potent passing attack.

Dave Jensen and Wayne Dreier attempted to knock down a pass. After losing to Parsons, Jensen returned home to play rival Upper Iowa and made it a successful day with a 28-13 win. Two touchdowns were scored by the sharp Knight defense on an intercepted pass and a fumble.

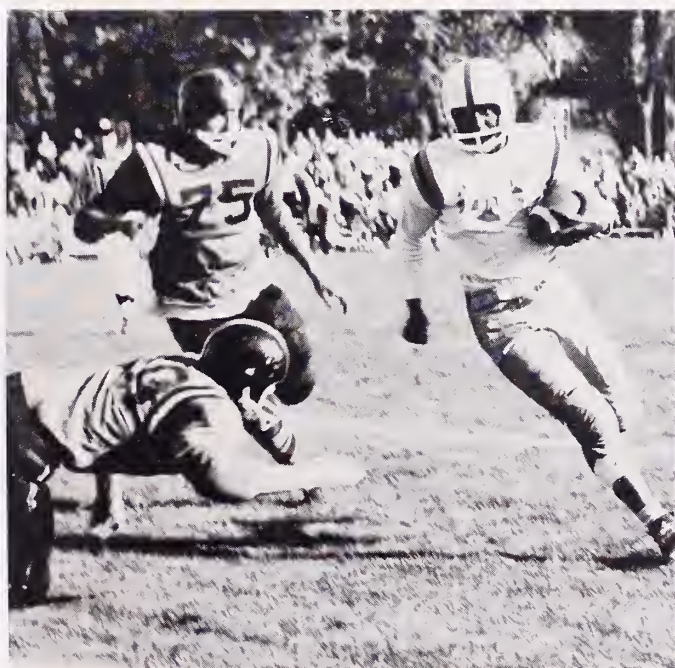

Wartburg's line again held the opponent out to w the kicker time. Ott led in punting with a -yard average, and Dreier was second with a average. Playing perhaps their worst game of season, the Knights lost to Buena Vista 20-3. The cost Wartburg a share of the crown.

All-Conference quarterback Marv Ott sneaked er for a TD. After defeating Augustana, the ights returned home for a rainy Homecoming ne. The only touchdown of the game came on a arterback sneak by Jack McClelland. A large wd turned out in spite of the weather.

With Tom Van Wyngarden on the ground in front of him and Don Sowers right behind him, a UIU ball carrier faced Wartburg's two All-Conference defenders in action. After trailing Dubuque 14-0 at the half, the Knights came back strong to win 21-14 as the offense began to match the defense.

Freshman Bill Fulcher found himself in trouble against Luther. The final game of the season saw Wartburg win 23-12 over Central. A big crowd turned out to see eleven seniors end their college careers. These fellows helped to produce the best four seasons ever for Wartburg.

Harriers Have Disappointing Season

COACH AX BUNDGAARD studies his stopwatch as freshman Gary Jansonius crosses the finish line.

Inexperience again proved to be the biggest factor in the 1960 cross-country team's poor showing. A total of six freshmen and one sophomore answered Coach Ax Bundgaard's desperate plea for runners. Had the harriers had more time to whip into top shape, they might have produced far better results.

Despite their inexperience, the Knights were out there trying. The season included losses to non-conference foes Winona State, Platteville, Iowa State Teachers College, University of Wisconsin of Milwaukee and Loras. Conference foes scoring wins were Simpson, Luther and Dubuque.

The season ended with the conference meet in Waverly, in which the Knights finished fifth.

Axmen Finish Second; Set Three Marks

After two consecutive years as Iowa Conference champs, the Knights finished in a second-place tie with Luther with a 12-4 conference record and a season record of 15-9.

Wartburg opened the season with an overtime win over Augsburg and a double overtime win over Loras. After a one-sided loss to South Dakota, the Knights came back with another overtime win, this time at Buena Vista's expense. Rounding out pre-Christmas action were conference wins over Iowa Wesleyan and Dubuque.

After the Christmas holidays and a second-place finish in the Tall Corn Tourney, the Knights returned to regular play with two conference wins before a 72-70 overtime loss to non-conference foe Gustavus Adolphus.

THE CAGERS GOT back to their winning ways with two comfortable victories before being upset 72-63 by underdog Simpson. Following a loss to Illinois Normal, the Knights ran over Iowa Wesleyan for the second time and then lost a hard-played game to Parsons.

After beating Central for a second time, Wartburg cagers knocked Luther out of first place with a 76-70 win but were in turn knocked out of first place by Parsons.

Closing the season, the Knights beat Upper Iowa in a thriller, lost to a vengeful Luther, won again over Dubuque and lost to tall, powerful Teachers.

THREE NEW SCHOOL records were set over the year, two of them being rebound marks. A total of 1,396 rebounds were taken, 20 more than the previous high in 1954-55. The other rebound mark was a one-game total of 77 against Iowa Wesleyan. The third record was set by junior Don Hein, as he hit 42 straight free throws over a two-year period.

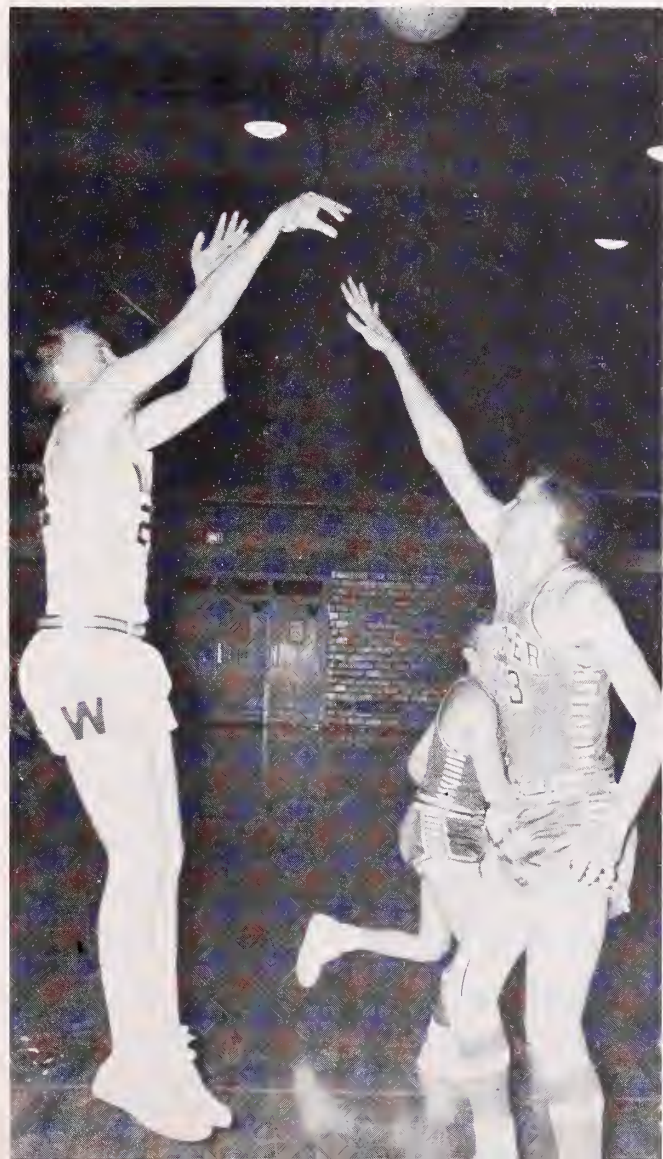

Wartburg placed two Axmen on the all-conference team — senior Dave Jensen and Hein. With 295 points Jensen became the sixth player in Wartburg history to score over 1,000 points, finishing with 1,039. Hein was high scorer for the season with 534 points for a two-year total of 981.

Coach Ax Bundgaard, after a thirteen-year reign which produced 187 victories and only 111 losses, resigned at the end of the season to become athletic director at South Dakota State next year.

Inconsistent Squires Have Winning Year

Wartburg Squires, Knights of the future, produced some good prospects in piling up a 9-8 season record. Playing consistent ball proved to be the biggest problem this year.

the Seminary. After a win over Loras and a one-point loss to Buena Vista, the cagers put together a five-game winning streak, the biggest win coming over tough Iowa Teachers. Then the roof fell in on the Squires. Starting with a loss to a Waterloo club, they lost four straight and seven out of their last nine games.

In the last half of the season the Squires, even though losing, provided many thrills. Most of their games featured a last half drive that usually fell a little short of the opponents' offensive output.

Wrestlers Second Despite Inexperience

Coach Norm Johansen's men followed the grid and hardcourt teams' example with a second-place finish in the conference. Season record for the Jomen was 5-6.

During the entire season, at least half of the lineup each meet consisted of freshmen. To add to this inexperience, a conference champion and two promising freshmen were lost at the semester.

In spite of this misfortune, the Knights surprised everyone in the conference meet by placing five men in the finals. However, the only Knight to bring home a championship was senior John Sternberg, a repeater at 123 pounds. The Knights finished behind Luther, 65-48.

Senior Roger Hildebrandt was undefeated in ten season matches until the conference finals.

Golfers Tie for Title

The 1960 golf season started out looking very good for the Knights, but a mid-season slump hurt their bid for an undefeated year. However, they came back to tie for the Conference championship.

Linksters started competition with wins over Dubuque, Buena Vista and Iowa State Teachers, then went on to place fourth out of seventeen schools in the Drake Invitational.

Then their troubles began, as they lost to ISTC, Loras and Luther before they finally tied Luther in their second meeting. This merely proved to be a warm-up for the next weekend, when the Knights and Norsemen tied at 325 strokes for the I. C. championship. Knights finished by solidly trouncing Drake.

Wartburg was represented at the Drake Invitational and the Iowa Conference Meet by senior Gary Hummel and underclassmen John Osbrink, Bill Barnett and Stan Salzman.

Wartburg's tennis team again faced its annual tough competition, and the netmen met the task with an improved 2-4 record.

As usual, the Knights opened their dual competition against Iowa State Teachers. The team showed its first signs of improvement as the Knights managed to win two points and come close in other matches. From here, they went on to lose twice to Luther, again failing to put away the vital points. After losing again to ISTC, the netmen finished by defeating Central and Simpson.

Dave Braunschweig, Ron Hart, Dick Jebesen and Larry Mugridge represented Wartburg at the Iowa Conference doubles, where they won three out of five matches, and at the I. C. meet, where they won fourth place. Mugridge won two points by taking third place, and Braunschweig added the Knights' other point.

Senior Ron Hart had a 3-3 mark for the year.

Pitchers Hurl Knights to Third-Place

Easter vacation began on April 13 for most Wartburg students, but the Knights were hard at work at Pella in a double-header with Central. The day marked the beginning of a rainy and sometimes disappointing season for the Knights, who lost the first game by one run and had the second rained out.

Knights moved up to third place from the previous year's fourth, finishing behind champion Luther and second-place Buena Vista. Four of Wartburg's five losses were by one run, whereas only two wins came by the same method.

Because of bad weather, the Knights played five games fewer than in the previous year. They finished with a 6-4 Conference record and an overall mark of 7-5.

After vacation, the baseballers swung back into action with a single win over Upper Iowa and a pair of wins over Parsons. However, on Senior Day Wartburg fell victim to a late-inning rally by Luther and lost by one run. The team promptly returned to its winning ways by beating Simpson and tough Buena Vista before losing for a second time to Luther.

The last four games of the season proved to be especially exciting, all games being decided by one run. In the first two, Wartburg posted victories over Upper Iowa and ISTC. The last two went to Buena Vista and ISTC.

One of the main reasons for the Knights' good season was the mound corps. Wartburg had three topnotch starters in Marv Ott, Jim Borcharding and Don Hein. These three teamed with the relief for an excellent 2.29 earned run average. Top man for the staff was Borcharding with eight earned runs in 41 1/3 innings for a 1.75 E.R.A. while posting a 4-2 record for the season.

In the hitting department the Knights had a .236 team batting average, led by Marv Ott, who posted a .357 average for the season.

Cindermen Strong in Field Events

Despite winning only one dual meet, the Knights had a small but powerful track squad in some events. They were strong in the field events and sprints but weak in distance runners.

The season started indoors at ISTC, where the Knights placed third in a triangular with Iowa Teachers and Grinnell. In the Iowa College Relays at the same location the Knights placed ninth.

Outdoor competition began in Schield Stadium against always powerful Dubuque, who rolled past the Knights. Next on the schedule were the Iowa Conference Relays at Pella, where the Knights won the 880 relay. The following day Wartburg competed at the ISTC Relays.

Back in dual competition the Knights were beaten by Loras and then went to the Drake Relays, where the 880 relay team finished in fourth place. Next for the Knights was Platteville State, the cindermen providing the only sports victory for the Senior Day visitors.

Traveling to Rock Island, Illinois, the following Saturday, the Knights placed third in the Viking Olympics. The Axmen lost their final two dual meets to Winona State and Luther.

Last action of the season for Wartburg Knights was the Iowa Conference Meet. Wartburg placed fourth, 9/14 of a point behind third-place Simpson. First-place winners were Eddie Skay in the 220 and Dixon Zander in the pole vault. Most of the other points came in the field events.

Crouching in the starting position, Eddie Skay often awaited the starting gun. Eddie took first place in the 220-yard dash at the I. C. Meet and also added a third in the 100-yard dash and a fourth in the broad jump. Eddie set a school mark in the 220 with a time of 21.9 seconds.

Displaying tremendous effort, Chuck Wallin unwound to heave the discus record distances. During the season Chuck led the squad in this event, and placed second in the Conference Meet. Besides this, Chuck also broke his own record with a toss of 143' 11 1/4"

Not everyone at Wartburg has a chance to participate in varsity sports. Some students carry too heavy a study load or have to work, and as a result, they cannot spend the hours every week that are needed to stay in condition.

However, intramural sports offer everyone a chance to participate in athletics through a well-rounded and varied program, sponsored by the athletic department. Here students can participate in their favorite sports without training rules or great pressure to win. Small trophies are presented to victors in various events.

At the beginning of the school year intramural action starts with rough and tumble flag football. For the first time a couples' miniature golf tournament was offered this year along with the regular golf tournament. Also included in the fall sports was the second annual turkey run across campus.

Around the second week of November, men's volleyball takes the spotlight. After Christmas basketball is the center of attraction with two eight-team leagues. Closing out the winter is coed volleyball, coed bowling and a wrestling tourney for men.

With the coming of spring, intramural action moves out of doors, finishing the year with softball competition, a tennis tournament and a track meet.

Cheerleaders Help Wartburg Win Games

THE LIVELY AND inspiring pep-routers lead Marv Ott and Co. onto the field.

WITH THE VICTORY bell at stake, cheerleaders concentrate on arousing spirit.

What is the hardest job in Wartburg athletics? Is it scoring a touchdown or making a basket? No, it is arousing the spirit of the student body. With the students behind them the players can better produce winning results.

This year's cheerleaders found themselves faced with many problems. Now that Wartburg has come to its own in sports, the student body sometimes expected the fellows to win all the games without much support. Besides, a growth in the student body made it increasingly difficult to lead the group in a unified body.

Led by Diane Daggett, the cheerleaders did an admirable job. Especially noteworthy this year was the introduction of new cheers, designed to speed up and pep up the student body.

To these cheerleaders, following their team was foremost. Neither rain, cold nor long trips thwarted them in their efforts to back the Knights.

Student Senate -- Deciding School Policies

The proverbial middleman between the students and the administration is the Student Senate. The Senate this year tried to reach out into more areas of student life and become more integrated with the administration for further student responsibility and more student planning than previously.

The president, vice-president and secretary were elected in the spring by the student body. Class presidents and three senators represented each class.

Included in the Senate's activities were the creation of a Student Employment Service, research into problem areas, such as Who's Who and the Carnival, and the initial work to fulfill the dreams of a National Lutheran Student Government Association. The Senate works through its committees for the good of the school as a whole.

Alpha Chi-- Stimulating Scholarship

"What did you think of 'The Glass Menagerie'?"

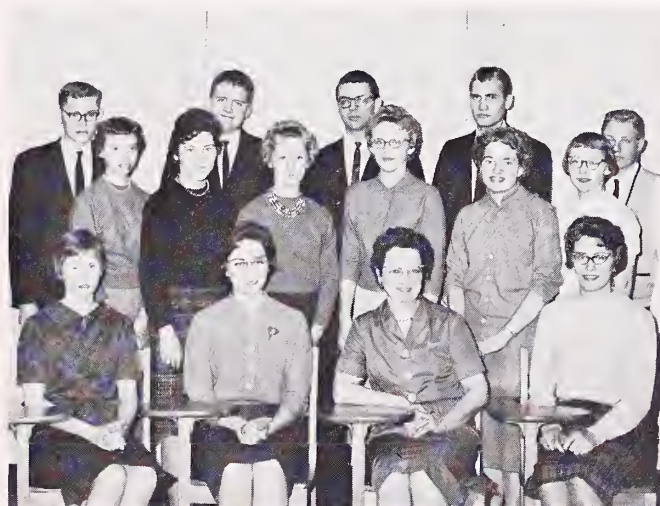

"Browning has always been one of my favorite poets."

"Tell me the truth now. What is your opinion of modern music?"

These were a few of the comments scattered among the monthly meetings of the Iowa Alpha Chapter of Alpha Chi, national scholastic society established here in April, 1960. Faculty members presented lectures on these and other topics at the monthly meetings.

The ten per cent of the junior and senior class eligible for membership felt their initiation ceremony was the high light of the year. Promising to "... uphold the purpose of Alpha Chi, striving to make its ideals my ideals, in scholarship and in service," they were marching forward in their effort to "know the truth," which is to make them free.

Debate--Educational Arguing

MR. SMITH POINTS out a few new arguments for the next debate to juniors Al Putz and Meta Fokkena.

Week-end tournaments took the debate teams all over the Midwest. The group received many invitations during the year to debate in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Illinois, and attended special tournaments at the University of Illinois, Chicago, St. Thomas, Minneapolis, and the Iowa Forensic Association Tournament.

This year's debate topic was "Resolved, That the United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for its citizens." The discussion question was "What should be the role of the federal government in communications?"

The purpose of the debate society is to learn to discuss and debate logically and artfully a subject of importance to the nation as a whole.

Members of this group aim to study all sides of the question and attempt to reach an intelligent personal decision.

Al Putz and Jim Riesberg won second place at the University of Dubuque tournament. At the Iowa Forensic Association Tournament, sponsored by ISTC, freshmen Jim Riesberg and Stan Lillich won all four debates; Meta Fokkena received a Superior rating for oratory in the same contest.

Young Democrats -- Victory

The Young Democrats strive to stimulate an active interest in governmental affairs. The organization provides an opportunity to foster and perpetuate the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party. The aim of the organization is to develop an active interest in the area of politics and government administration at Wartburg College.

The club offers the opportunity for Wartburg students to analyze and discuss issues and information about the area of politics.

Wartburg Democrats campaigned last fall and solicited "Dollars for Democrats." They also presented part of a program during half-time of a football game in support of Kennedy for president.

Young Republicans -- Defeat

The Young Republicans provide an opportunity for analyzing and discussing political affairs. The basic aim of the organization is to bring young people into the Republican Party by offering them the opportunity to find political expression and recognition. Through this group the activities of the Republican Party are encouraged and its ideals promoted on the college campus.

Monthly meetings offer the possibility for collecting and discussing information about the political world. With the national presidential elections in the fall, Young Republicans had many activities.

Serving a pancake supper in conjunction with the Young Democrats was one of the year's activities.

Our Congregation-- Seeking Truth to Triumph

As we walked along the campus, we heard a glorious sound coming from a building we had never seen before. As we drew closer, we asked another couple what the sound and the building were. They told us it was the Wartburg College Student Congregation singing a hymn in the new chapel-auditorium.

After the service was completed, we talked with Chaplain Herman Diers, who served as pastor for the group. He told us that the students had just been privileged to take Holy Communion together. How inspiring that must have been.

As we left the campus, we concluded that the Student Congregation afforded an excellent opportunity to serve God with time, talent and treasure.

Mission Fellowship-- Spreading the Gospel Afar

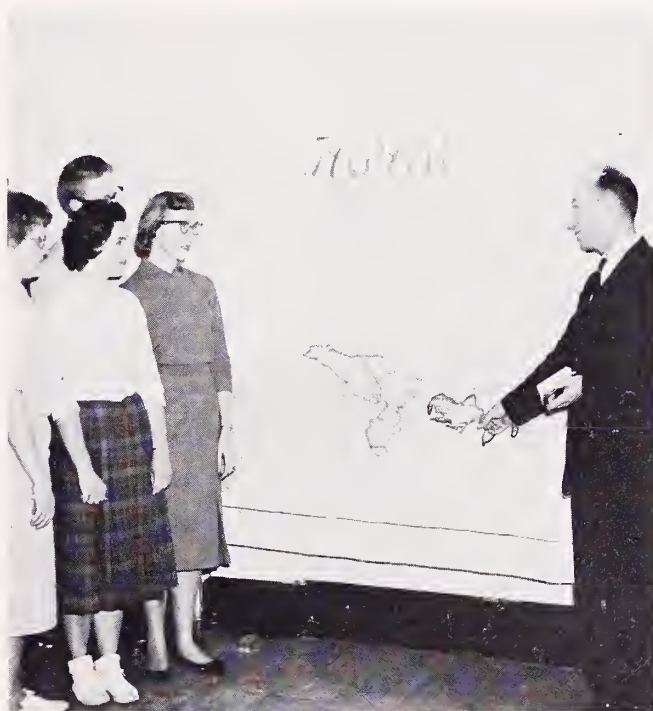

As the light in the auditorium dimmed, pictures of New Guinea natives appeared on the screen. A voice began telling of the native customs and beliefs. While the audience listened quietly, the natives were converted to Christianity through word and picture. Thus, another convocation was completed during Mission Emphasis Week, held November 13-18.

"Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations" is the aim of Mission Fellowship. Its members endeavor to bring students closer to the work being done in the mission field. The Reverends Oliver Carlson, Madagascar; Marcus Reitz, New Guinea, and Einar Unseth, Japan, were brought in to tell of their experiences in various areas.

The members themselves participated in bringing the word to others by visiting hospitals and the county home. They also helped in the "Care" program.

Mission Fellowship teaches students to be "doers and not hearers only."

"Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you."

Thus, a group of men, dedicated to God, continue to prepare for full-time church work through their life calling, the ministry.

These men, through monthly meetings, seek to gain a deeper insight into the workings of the Church, of which they will soon be a vital part.

Chi Rho members serve in many ways here on campus as well as in the community and surrounding area. They conduct many of the chapel services and they usher on Sunday for the Student Congregation. Regular hospital visitations are included in their services to the community.

To add to Christmas festivities, Chi Rho conducted an inspiring Candlelight Service December 19. Another important event during the year was the banquet April 9.

Passavant -- Service

"Measure of a Man" was the title of a stewardship film included in this year's program of the Passavant Club.

A service organization, Passavant Club meets monthly. Its members are comprised of people primarily interested in the social ministry of the Church. It stimulates interest in occupations involving service to others and provides an interpretation of a social work career as a means of service.

During the year speakers, such as the Rev. Paul Boe, chairman of the Board of Charities of The American Lutheran Church, presented different phases of the social services.

A party for the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly was one of the many projects undertaken by the group throughout the year.

Passavant Club obtained its name from William A. Passavant, a pastor in the early history of social services, who provided leadership in establishing hospitals, children's homes and other types of social services for the poor and needy.

"Feed my lambs." This is the club motto of the "Four R's," a relatively new organization on the Wartburg campus.

Aim of the club is to create interest in the Christian day schools of the Lutheran Church and to learn of their operation. It is an organization that is striving, through its meetings, to place more interest in a method by which the Christian day school can develop and strengthen faith.

The fifteen members were active during the year in organizing the monthly meetings. These meetings consisted of speakers from Christian day schools, movies about these schools and panels, each one adding to the knowledge and interest of the group.

Although there are no special qualifications for membership, one must have an interest in the Christian day school and its work. Reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic and religion are the four R's of the club, and they emphasize the position of religion in the Lutheran schools.

A Christmas party for the organization members was one of the year's special occasions.

LSA -- Witness to Others

KRISTIAN MUELLER, GERMAN university exchange student, speaks on the German situation and tells of German student life.

The stars shone above, the fire blazed brightly and a feeling of Christian fellowship pervaded the group. After singing, all bowed their heads in silent meditation. Thus ended another picnic of the Lutheran Student Association.

Besides the spring and fall picnics, LSA had guest speakers to add variety to its programs. Kristian Mueller, an exchange student, spoke on his student life in Germany. Another high light of the year was a stimulating panel discussion on religious experiences, given by members of the group.

Wartburg College was well represented on the regional level of LSA by Joan Pirner, regional vice-president, Evelyn Helms, stewardship secretary, and the Rev. Robert Dell, regional adviser. The Rev. Herman Diers served as national adviser.

"For we are not, like so many, peddlers of God's word; but as men of sincerity, as commissioned by God, in the sight of God we speak in Christ." (II Corinthians 2:17).

Last summer the Parish Youth Workers and the Parish Mission Builders went out to share Christ, working in congregations and living in the homes of the church members. These volunteer services were in conjunction with the Youth and Evangelism Departments of the ALC.

The PYW's gave special assistance to youth work, planning and helping with Luther League activities. They emphasized youth as a meaningful group in the Christian fellowship.

The PMB's helped the congregations in their evangelism programs and worked with them in surveys and calls. They tried to create in each member a concern in the evangelism of the church.

"Activity" and "variety" may describe the year for Phebes, the most emphasis having been put on visitations to several churches in Waterloo. These visitations helped members get a good view of various churches and their parish programs. Other high lights of the year included the selling of Christmas cards and a special Christmas get-together.

Phebes was organized to foster a common feeling in all those individuals interested in the work of the church. Its organization is based on the formation of a bond among church workers. Phebes has provided for Christian service, such as visitations to the county home, the hospital and to shut-ins. Through these services, members have shown their love for their fellow men as well as their faith in Christ.

This organization is open to any women students interested in parish work, the work of the church or in showing Christian love by helping others.

MENC--Performers Today, Music Educators Tomorrow

Music consists of two elements -- namely, putting sounds together in harmonious arrangements and then adding appreciation or responsiveness. These are the interests of Music Educators National Conference, a pre-professional organization for future music teachers.

MENC had monthly programs of musical and professional interest. Wartburg faculty members or guest music teachers presented these programs. Sometimes students participated in discussions, and Wartburg alumni, now in the field of teaching, returned to tell of their experiences in teaching music. Members of MENC also assisted with receptions at senior and faculty music recitals throughout the year.

This organization is open to all music majors and aims to give them an opportunity for cooperative and reciprocal professional development in the field of music for better teaching.

FUTURE MUSIC TEACHERS in MENC take off from serious practice to have a little jam session for relaxation.

Band -- Talent, Timing, Tours

Adding sound and life to the campus is the Wartburg College Band. Under the direction of the personable Mr. Robert E. Lee, the band plays at many college activities.

Giving color and spirit to the home football games, the band performed lively half-time shows. Besides the pre-game ceremonies, the musicians supported the cheerleaders and fans with peppy tunes. High-stepping drum major Ron Lechnyr led the band during football performances.

In the field of concert music the group performed both classical and show music. Several concerts were on the year's schedule.

Hours of practice prepared the band for its annual spring tour March 3-12. Touring Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois, the group presented concerts in many communities.

Instrumentalists in the organization are chosen by auditions in the fall. A pep band and many small groups also include a number.

DURING A WEEKLY LESSON Mr. Lee gives clarinetist August Knoll specific tips on how to become a better musician.

Choir -- Breathing, Phrasing

Excitement was high in November of 1960 as the Wartburg Choir prepared to proclaim the word of God through song on its 3,000-mile tour of southeastern United States. The Choir was well accepted by non-Lutherans as well as Lutherans as the bus pushed on through the deep South. Especially memorable events were the picnic along the Swanee River, the concert given at the Naval Air Base in Memphis, Tennessee, and the weekend spent enjoying the Florida sunshine in Miami Beach.

After tour the Choir continued with its usual rehearsal schedule. In January, as Dr. Liemohn and his wife prepared to leave on their six-month journey to Europe, they were wished "Auf Wiedersehen" by the Choir members. For the remainder of the year the group was under the fine direction of Dr. James Fritschel.

The choir also participated in the Christmas at Wartburg program and sang for several church services and convocations.

ANOTHER DAILY REHEARSAL is concluded as the Choir, directed by Dr. Liemohn, reverently sings the doxology.

Singers -- Blending Voices

The cue was given. A group of young men and women walked onto the stage and into camera range. At a given signal all blended their voices in a Christmas hymn.

Who were the members of this group? What were they doing? Where were they?

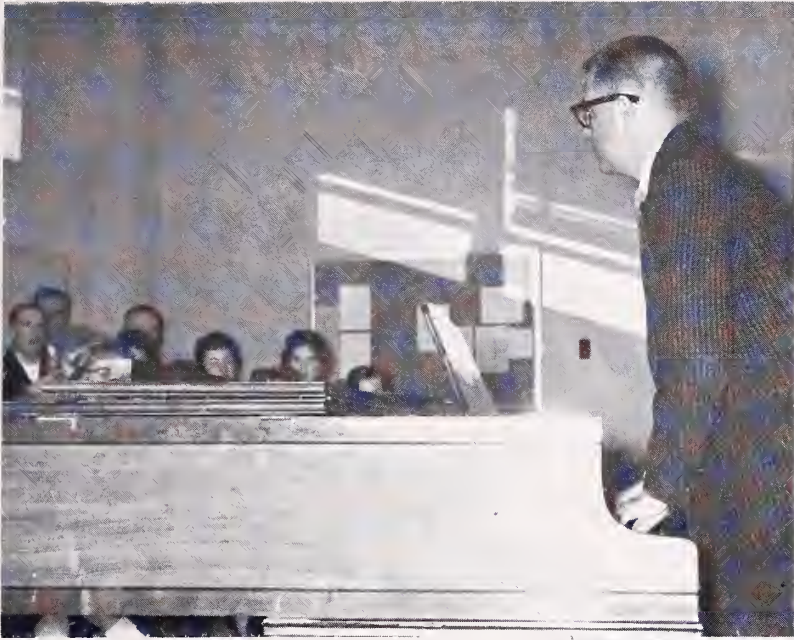

These were Wartburg's blazer-clad Castle Singers, presenting one of a series of Christmas programs televised by KWWL, Waterloo. Wartburg could well be proud to be represented in that series, which included leading high school and college choirs of the state. Jean Beaver, a freshman, presented an interpretive dance as one of the numbers. Appearing on television constituted one of the high lights of the year for this group of about fifty voices.

Participating in the Christmas at Wartburg program with Band and Choir and singing at the dedication of the new Chapel-Auditorium helped fill the Singers' year with activity. Besides these performances, they sang several times at convocation and at church services.

During the spring the group took part in the Parents Day and High School Day activities on campus. On March 21 they presented a Folk Show. Late in the spring Castle Singers joined the Band in presenting their own version of a Pops Concert.

Dr. James Fritschel directs the Castle Singers group, which sings chiefly secular music.

"HERE'S THE CHORD; now let's hit it," says Dr. Fritschel as the group begins a new song.

DARRELL SCHLANGE, GALEN Hora, George Mikos and Duane Nelson sort music folders.

"NOPE, TOO BIG," says sophomore Doug Aden as he tries on a special Singers' coat.

MEMBERS OF THE college and the community who are talented musically may join the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra, directed by Mr. Robert Lee. Presenting three concerts is the task that confronts this group each year.

Symphony -- Community Musicians

The curtain opened. A small, energetic man wearing a tuxedo walked to the center of the stage, bowed to the audience, turned again to the group of men and women assembled in front of him, raised his baton, and suddenly music filled the air.

Thus, another concert of the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra began. Comprised of Wartburg faculty members, students and people from the surrounding area, the group played classical as well as contemporary music.

The orchestra gave three concerts. A high light of one of them was the performance of Mr. James Miller, a French horn soloist from the State University of Iowa.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert E. Lee, the group proved that people of different ages, backgrounds and occupations are capable of making "beautiful music together."

MR. LEE RAISES his baton to lead the symphony orchestra through a number during one of the group's rehearsals.

HANS SACHS PRESIDENT Horst Hehr concentrates intently on making an informative poster for the next meeting.

You just can't beat an early morning hike -- or so the members of Hans Sachs say. Rising at 5:30 a.m., taking a brisk walk to the river, cooking bacon and eggs for breakfast and then participating in an open-air church service. Sounds wonderful, doesn't it -- at least if you're a member of Hans Sachs?

Hans Sachs is more than a club for early morning risers, however. Its membership comprises those students who are interested in the German language and in Germany itself.

Besides the annual May breakfast, the members went Christmas caroling. Singing in German provided a real challenge.

Included in the year's program were movies on Germany, lectures by members of the faculty, as well as insights into the lives of the German people as told by members and guests, such as Kris Mueller, a foreign exchange student from Germany.

"Off we go -- into the wild blue yonder . . ." or so they hope.

Another first in the history of Wartburg is a club for aviation enthusiasts organized just this year during the first semester.

The Aviation Club is open to those students interested in flying or in learning about flying. The club is also for social purposes.

The impetus for the club was provided by several students who secured as adviser football coach Norm Johansen, a former air force pilot, still much interested in flying.

With the glamorous prospect of possible flying, the members met monthly to listen to special speakers or watch movies on various aspects of aviation.

Plans were also made to attend a ground school in Waterloo at a nominal cost.

Cameramen -- Expert Observers

A camera is defined as a device consisting of a closed box used for taking photographs.

This definition just scratches the outer surface of the aim of the Camera Club, an organization which delves more deeply into the camera as a means of producing images.

The nineteen-member club has no particular qualifications for joining other than an interest in photography.

The regular meetings were composed of discussions in which new photographic methods and devices were reviewed, and photographs taken by the club members were analyzed. One special project last year was the selling of Homecoming and other special-event pictures.

The club is active throughout the year in carrying out its aim of making life's pattern stop by preserving its memories for future years.

During the year members of Gamma Lambda, Wartburg chapter of the national biology honor society Beta Beta Beta, took another step along the road which will lead to careers in the science laboratories of the nation by visiting various scientists throughout the state. Tri-Beta also included prominent scientific speakers on the year's program as well as projects in which the entire group participated.

Gamma Lambda is open to students planning to major in one of the biological sciences. An individual must have a scholastic record above the student body average and have credit in not less than three semesters of a biological science. Nomination by a member of the faculty is a prerequisite for membership.

Aims of Tri-Beta are by means of a society for students of the biological sciences to stimulate sound scholarship, promote dissemination of scientific truth and encourage investigation of the life sciences.

A shield-shaped key displaying three B's is the official emblem of Tri-Beta. Its colors are red and green, and the American beauty rose is its flower.

"I THINK I'VE found the missing part," says Dave Grube as some Tri-Beta members mount a biological display.

ACS -- Considering Field Of Professional Chemistry

In an age when science is in the center of the stage, the Wartburg chapter of the American Chemical Society held monthly meetings at which speakers -- local, national and international -- bound the world to the chemical profession. One such prominent speaker was Dr. Eugene Wierbicki, a member of the American delegation to Russia concerning food industries. Besides well-known speakers, ACS meetings featured films and participation of the group in student papers and experiments.

The year was climaxed by a field trip to the Mayo Clinic and by a banquet in the spring.

The aims of the American Chemical Society are to foster a professional attitude among its members, to develop leadership, to acquire training and service in the chemical profession and to seek opportunities in career-building contacts with members of the chemical profession.

The club is open to all those majoring in chemistry besides those just interested in the subject or its allied fields.

Science Club -- Learning of Newer Things

SCIENCE FICTION HAS no place here as members intently watch a special scientific movie in Clinton Hall lounge.

Each meeting of the Science Club this year was sponsored by one of the departments included within the area of the sciences: chemistry, mathematics or physics. These programs ranged from demonstrations to films to speakers.

Highlighting the year for Science Club was a series of lectures by Dr. R. D. Anderson, visiting math professor from Louisiana State University. A field trip was made in April to the National Academy of Science meeting at Simpson College, Indianola.

Membership is open to all who are specifically interested in any of the sciences. Science Club aims to incite a greater interest in a student of science and inform him of knowledge gained in scientific fields other than his own specific major study. It also provides information not likely to be gained from class lectures or individual study. Science Club encourages members to enter scientific careers.

SEA -- Receiving Training

PETE TIMMER OUTLINES three main points of a speech on study habits which he is about to present to SEA members.

Future teachers of America, those who will mold the minds of our nation's youth, those who will determine, to a large degree, whether civilization progresses or regresses -- they are the members of the Student Education Association.

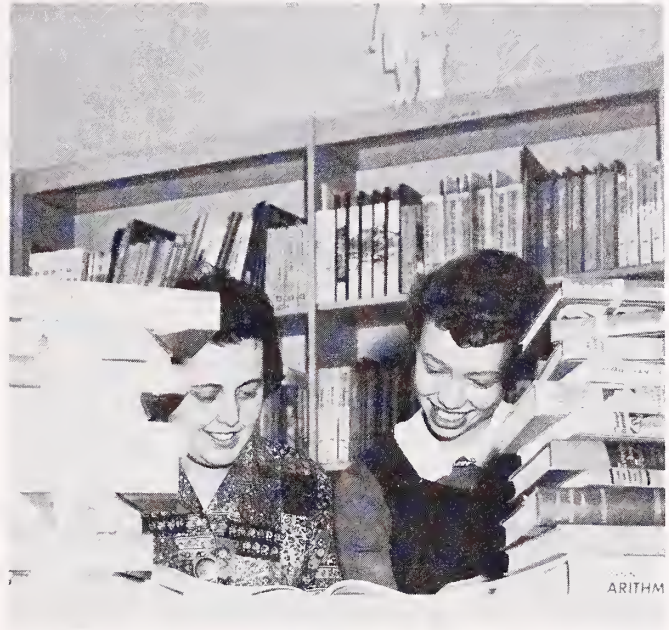

Kappa Delta Kappa, Wartburg chapter of the SEA, acted as host to the fall Northeast Regional meeting last October. This was the high light of the year. KDK Chapter is affiliated with both the state and national education association.

In the fall and spring of this year many members of SEA, largest student organization on campus, attended the Iowa meetings of their organization. Through such conferences, delegate assemblies, workshops and conventions, members develop the leadership which is vital in the teaching profession. The guidance of their competent advisers, Miss Stella Austerud and Dr. Herbert Max, has proved invaluable to SEA students in the achievement of this goal.

Informative monthly programs, including an interesting panel discussion by former Wartburg students speaking on their experiences in the teaching field as well as a talk on "First-hand Impressions of the Schools of Europe," kept them busy throughout the year. Another program which proved enlightening to the large membership of SEA centered around the NEA Traveling Service.

The purpose of the Kappa Delta Kappa Chapter of SEA is to stimulate growth in the highest ideals of professional relations, to study the organization and activities of professional associations, to foster cooperation between the chapter and similar student groups in other institutions offering teacher education in order to develop professional attitudes and to foster social life within the chapter.

Any student enrolled in Wartburg College and intending to enter the field of elementary or secondary education may become a member of the SEA by paying the required membership fee.

SPECIAL SPEAKER JOHN Kopertson stresses important points as he speaks informally to business students.

What abilities are in demand in the business field? What are the advantages of taking a business course?

Any questions or doubts you have concerning any phase of business can be answered or discussed at a Business Student Association meeting.

Through its monthly meetings, BSA tries to show the interested student the various areas of business. This is accomplished through numerous speakers from different phases of commerce. By the information obtained through speakers and discussions, the student gains a better knowledge of the business world, and he learns how to apply his knowledge to different situations.

A picnic and a dance in the spring lead the list of recreational activities for the members.

Anyone is qualified to join, whether a business major or not. Through membership in this organization, an otherwise undecided student may choose the field of business as his life work.

Ushers Club-- Guiding from Confusion

"Where is Section A, Row 5, Seat 3? Is it on the north or the south side?"

Can you imagine what it would be like with 300 or 400 people saying the same thing? This might be the case if it wouldn't be for the Ushers Club.

Half an hour before an Artist Series performance, the young men and women in Ushers Club competently guide many people to their reserved seats in Knights Gymnasium or the Chapel-Auditorium.

Anyone who is interested in ushering and enjoys dressing up is eligible to join Ushers Club. This year provided a new first for members of Ushers Club, for they had the opportunity to usher in the new Chapel-Auditorium.

The high light of the year is the spring banquet. This annual banquet is sponsored by the Artist Series Committee in appreciation for the fine volunteer service provided by the Ushers Club throughout the year at Artist Series performances, plays, band concerts and other college functions.

PRESIDENT BOB BIPES plans with Mrs. Hertlein for next Artist Series (top) and speaks at the spring banquet (bottom).

"W" Club -- An Honor

Future members of "W" Club can easily be spotted by the black "W's" on their faces and the familiar paddles which are a part of initiation. Two-time letter winners can be distinguished from others by their striking black and orange letter jackets.

Besides thrilling spectators on the athletic field, these lettermen accomplish other tasks on campus, including taking charge of concessions at football and basketball games and ushering for church services.

The "W" Club float won second prize in this year's Homecoming parade. Other activities which the club sponsored during the year were a dance and a spring banquet as well as election of three Sports Queens -- Fall, Winter and Spring. Members also regularly select an Athlete of the Month.

WAA--Women in Sports

Why let muscles get rusty? Women's Athletic Association provides recreation each week for those Wartburg women who enjoy a little extra exercise other than walking to and from classes.

The year's activities begin with a hike and picnic in the fall for old and new members to get acquainted. Each Wednesday evening various activities are undertaken in the gym. These include badminton, ping-pong, volleyball, basketball, tumbling and trampolining.

Special events of the year consist of volleyball and basketball tournaments as well as participation in playdays with SUI, ISTC and Luther.

Along with relaxing and enjoying these various sports, WAA gives the girls an opportunity to develop team cooperation and good sportsmanship, important qualities for all areas of life.

ESTHER BAHLMANN SLAPS the ball over the net in some Wednesday night volleyball action in the gym.

IT'S TIME FOR a break, and the girls rush to the water fountain for refreshment after an exciting game.

Players -- Acting Their Parts

This year was an important first in the history of Wartburg Players. Those interested in dramatics had the opportunity to perform on stage of the new Chapel-Auditorium with facilities much improved over those of the Little Theater.

Among the plays staged this year under the direction of Mr. Vernon Lestrud were "The Silver Whistle" by Robert McEnrow, presented in February; "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams, staged in March, and three one-act plays in early May, play-writing contest winners.

Members share in duties, including such activities as costuming, staging, lighting, directing and acting.

A scholarship fund of $500 was established in memory of Lavonne Kimpling, a Wartburg sophomore, active in dramatics her freshman year, who died last fall. Each year for five years a $100 scholarship will be given to an outstanding Wartburg student active in dramatics.

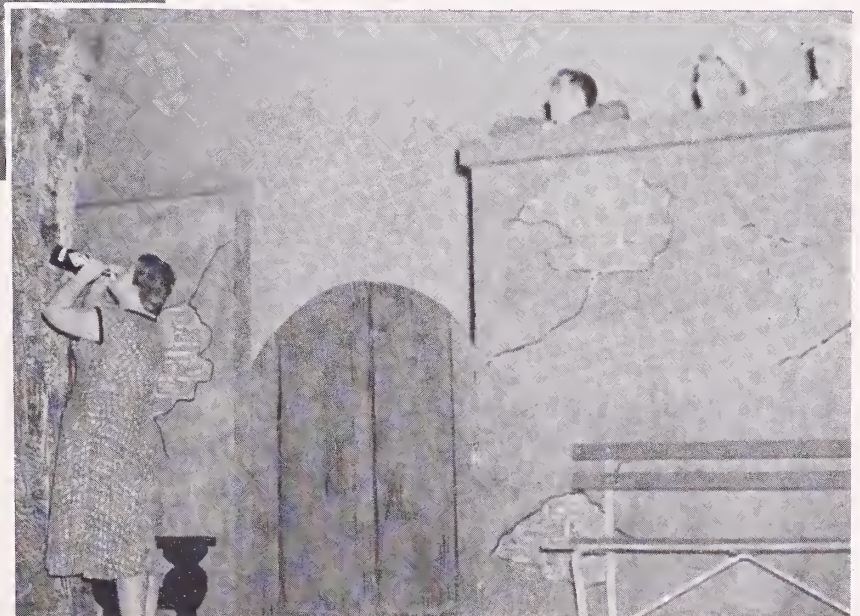

THE WARTBURG FAMILY suffered a real loss by the death of Lavonne Kimpling, president of Wartburg Players.

APO -- Performing On Wartburg Stage

BOB ROSENBERG PERFORMS one of many APO duties as he operates the curtain cords.

With the function of furthering dramatics as its basis, the Lambda Mu Cast of the national honorary dramatics fraternity Alpha Psi Omega is at work on the Wartburg campus.

This small group helps around the Little Theater and Chapel-Auditorium whenever any dramatic activity is going on. The various activities in which these members participate include the making of costumes and the building of sets, along with actually appearing behind the footlights. Requirements limit membership to only the select few.

Through this experience a number of members will have gained valuable training for future careers or associations with dramatics.

KWAR -- Bringing Radio to Wartburg

STUDENTS GET EXPERIENCE in radio engineering at the KWAR control board.

"This is KWAR-FM, 89.1 on your radio dial." Thus an announcer identifies the campus radio station.

KWAR radio is staffed by the students on campus interested in obtaining actual experience in any phase of the broadcasting field. The executive council, which is appointed by the Speech Department, was headed by Station Manager Dennis Thurow with various division heads assisting.

Serving Wartburg and the surrounding community, KWAR provides a variety of programs, including classical music, disc jockey shows, news, educational and religious programs.

KWAR -- Front row: H. Bomhoff, chief engineer; Mr. Vernon Lestrud, adviser; E. Knop, program director. Second row: D. Schunke, S. Remley, J. Niemeyer, S. Heinrich, M. Schlemmer, T. Havel, news director; D. Caruthers, M. Brandt, K. Koob, P. Borleske, J. Steinbrecher. Back row: A. Sandau, E. Bartelt, D. Ehlers, G. Bergamo, V. Reinicke, D. Hein, C. Allen, S. Westly, D. Meyer, P. Baumgarten.

PROGRAM DIRECTOR ED Knop discusses broadcasting arts with Manager Dennis Thurow.

PBE -- Radio Broadcasting Artists

Wartburg College has been associated with the national professional broadcasting arts fraternity for seven years.

The purpose of Pi Beta Epsilon is to stimulate an interest in the radio arts and acquaint members with all phases of radio broadcasting on college campuses and in the professional field.

In order to qualify for PBE, a person must first meet certain requirements. He must have a thorough knowledge of the following five divisions: engineering, writing, performance, program planning and production. The person wishing to become a member of PBE is required to pass an oral examination during the pledge period and must know the meaning of "Pi Beta Epsilon" to this fraternity.

PBE members get practical broadcasting experience by being in charge of their own station, KWAR-FM, which was entirely in charge of PBE members last year.

Members become better acquainted with broadcasting and related fields. This knowledge will help them to teach others after graduation.

ADVISER VERNON LESTRUD and PBE members Herb Bomhoff and Ed Knop look over albums.

SURROUNDED BY LITERATURE and art work in many different forms, Grace Jahn, last year's Castle editor, and Tom Maik, this year's editor, work diligently to assemble material for the annual offering to Wartburg's literary tastes.

The Castle--Literary Outlet

Again this year the campus literary magazine, The Castle, published an interesting variety of student literary work. The material entered included an assortment of writings from short poems to book reviews.

With the advice of Mr. Waterman, English Department, editor Tom Maik compiled the material so that The Castle brought out the best of Wartburg's talent. Grace Jahn and Don Ehlers assisted while Carolyn Boebel served as business manager.

Writing for this magazine gives the opportunity for future authors to actually have some of their works published and to learn more about the qualities which make a manuscript worthy of publication.

Another incentive for bringing out writing ability was the offering of cash prizes for the best poetry and prose. First-place winners received ten dollars, second-place winners, five dollars, and third-place winners, three dollars. Senior Linda Mugridge won both prose and poetry awards this year. Members of the English department judged.

WHILE LOOKING OVER material, Tom Maik seeks aid from adviser Mr. Waterman.

STAFF MEMBER DON Ehlers frantically types away to get his contribution ready.

Trumpet-- "Campus Voice"

"The Wartburg Trumpet, Voice of the Knights" proclaims the familiar nameplate.

Rolling off the presses almost every Saturday, thirty yearly issues of the Trumpet keep 2,200 readers both on and off campus aware of what's going on at Wartburg. In addition to reporting the news, the paper sponsored an automobile safety campaign and a best-dressed girl on campus contest. A safety check was arranged in connection with the automobile campaign, and a check for $175 was awarded the Trumpet as it tied for second place.

Several conventions were on the agenda for staff members. The Iowa Collegiate Press Association met in Cedar Falls during September. In November three journalists attended the Associated Collegiate Press convention in Chicago. In March the editor attended the first TALC Student Conference, held at Moorhead, Minnesota. Besides business, Trumpeters also had a party -- a joint one with the Fortress staff just before going home for the Christmas holidays.

Running at an average rate of six pages a week, the Trumpet used color, an innovation last year, in its special issues. Picture features, dealing with such varied subjects as the life of a freshman, Christmas at Wartburg and Homecoming, were also a trademark. Features on Wartburg's leading personalities added to the week's news.

Guiding the Trumpet staff was the first woman editor in a number of years, Linda Mugridge. Charles Jepsen served as managing editor, Ron Bencke as business manager, Gordon Happel advertising manager, Elaine Melchert and Darrell Jobman news editors, Tom Kuckkahn sports editor and Grace Jahn editorial assistant, with Mrs. Margaret Garland adviser.

With their staffs, these people worked all year, from Saturday to Saturday, to truly make the Wartburg Trumpet the voice of the Knights.

LADY EDITOR LINDA Mugridge looks over all the stories available during her Friday night layout task.

APG -- Honor to Journalists

Probably few organizations on campus have as high a turnover in members as does Beta Delta, local chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma. And few are so small as this honorary journalism fraternity.

But when members must meet certain requirements, enrollment is bound to be limited. Members must have been active in college journalism for at least a year and be in the upper two-thirds of the college scholastically. Except for business managers, they must also have taken college journalism.

Beta Delta is one chapter of a national organization begun in 1921. "Write the truth in love" is the motto, and the colors, black and white, are seen in the little ribbons worn for several weeks preceding initiation.

Besides two initiations, other high lights included issuing the college directory, sponsoring a Homecoming breakfast for alumni, publishing a newsletter for APG alumni at Christmas and sponsoring a press banquet in the spring.

Fortress -- 'Week In, Week Out'

LINDA AND DARRELL, co-editors, tell Mrs. Garland of their trip to the ACP convention in Chicago.

"Under the spreading fluorescent light, a small group huddled together, talking softly, writing occasionally and looking around nervously. Suddenly, a figure wearing a blue coat and white scarf entered the room. All turned expectantly. 'Have you decided?' asked the blue-coated figure, Mrs. Garland by name. A brief pause followed; then the group smiled as a whole, and all nodded their heads in agreement. . . ."

This dramatic presentation has been brought to you from the files of the FORTRESS staff, as the members solved one of the many problems that confronted them throughout the year.

Recording the school year in pictures was the task that confronted this industrious little group. Senior assistant Ed Scharlau and Mrs. Garland provided those much-needed guiding hands. But what is a yearbook without pictures? Bill Schroeder and George Woodrich, student photographers, worked on, sometimes under great pressure and far into the night, to help meet deadlines.

With the feeling, then, of "Something accomplished, something done," we, the FORTRESS staff, present your 1961 FORTRESS.

"IF WE PUT it here, his head will be cut off," Darrell tells Linda as they discuss picture layouts.

Pi Sigma -- "Big Sisters"

"I think I'll try that hairdo next week. I never would have thought of it myself."

Such could be heard after a hairdo artist presented a demonstration to Pi Sigma members one evening.

Pi Sigma is one of the larger organizations on campus and is dedicated to encouraging social graces among the women of Wartburg. Pi Sigma encourages students in developing ease and poise in their social life.

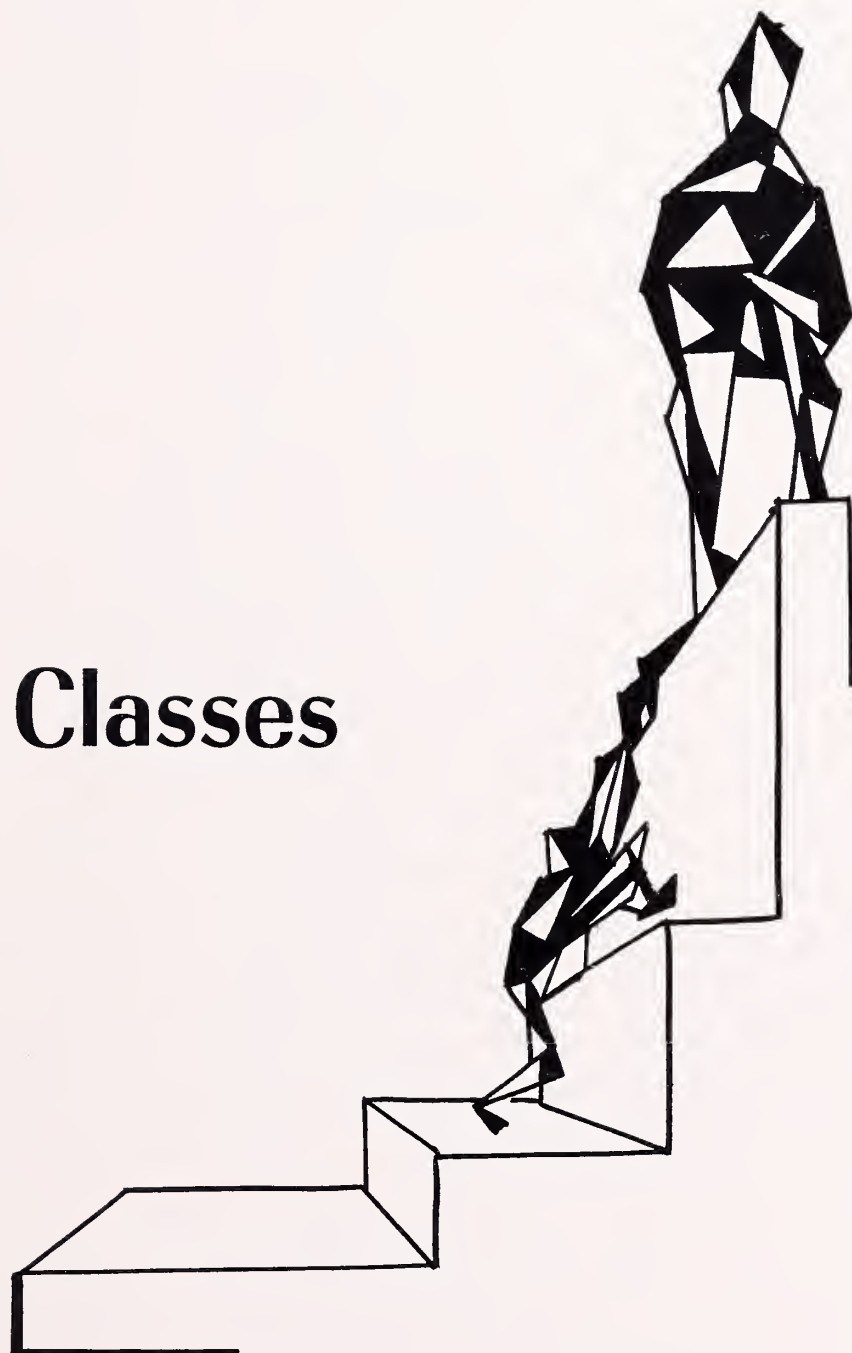

The high point of the year comes with the Christmas Ball, just before the holidays. This year the theme was "Fantasy in Frost," and the queen chosen to reign over the ball was Marlys Zander. Her attendants were Avis Holman and Joan Kreiter.

Other events sponsored by Pi Sigma during the year included the "big sis, little sis" program to acquaint incoming freshmen with Wartburg, a style show, variety show and numerous teas. Pi Sigma members also decorated the cafeteria to add to the festivity of various holidays during the year.

HIGH LIGHT OF the annual turnabout Christmas dance was Charlotte Wittmann's crowning of Marlys Zander as queen.

Classes

Seniors -- On Their Way Out

As the graduates look back over their college experiences, they are sure to make one comment -- "It's been a long, tough grind."

The transition from the lowly status of freshman to the envious senior level seemed to be an unattainable goal during those first few weeks on campus four years ago. As those freshmen gradually became seniors, they grew in intelligence, wit and stature and then became educated adults, people with a purpose, men and women ready to face the realities of the world.

The seniors have contributed much to Wartburg

College during the few years of their stay here. The Class of 1961 was especially outstanding scholastically and in athletics, giving the Knights the best sports records in history.

Many organizations felt the impact of the senior class. Music groups, dramatics and other areas benefited. With this training graduates will show the results in their future vocations.

The Seniors eye the future and realize that graduation does not mark the end of their learning but only the beginning. The test of time will tell what they gained and what they gave to Wartburg.

Who's Who -- Honored Ones

BILL GOETZ'S activities included Alpha Chi, Choir and Academic Life Committee. He wrote some for the Trumpet and last year served as vice-president of Science Club.

DEANNA STOB was in a number of activities, including debate, Fortress and Young Democrats. She was also a member of Alpha Chi.

Artist Series Committee secretary, JANE BECKER, was also Music Educators National Conference secretary. Jane sang in the Wartburg Choir and was a member of the Homecoming court.

DON LEHMANN was active in football and baseball and was a member of the IM

Committee. He also served as class president his freshman year.

Choir president TOM CHRISTENSEN was a senator the past two years. He served on the Academic Life Committee and the Student Union Council.

TOM VAN WYNGARDEN was president of "W" Club after serving as secretary of the lettermen last year. He was a member of the Faculty-Student Athletic and Spiritual Emphasis Week Committees.

KAREN BARGMAN was this year's student body secretary as well as being president of SEA. She also sang in Choir and was a member of Alpha Chi, honorary scholarship society.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

LINDA MUGRIDGE was chief of the Trumpet. Her other activities included Alpha Chi, Alpha Phi Gamma, SEA and Publications Committee.

FRED MAI, student body president, occupied his time in other areas, too. Last year he was campus congregation treasurer, Chi Rho secretary and Carnival chairman. He was a member of Alpha Chi, besides.

BOB BOETTCHER was student body treasurer and a class officer for the past three years. He was also a member of Convocations Committee and Academic Life Committee.

In addition to athletic accomplishments, DAVE JENSEN was a student government committee member for three years. He was Student Body Project chairman last year and a Trumpet writer.

President of the Women's Coordinating Board, CONNIE WIECHERS also served as treasurer of Women's Athletic Association, secretary-treasurer of Hans Sachs and assistant campus nurse.

A member of Campus Church Council, CATHY CARR was also vice-president of Phebes. Her other time was spent in Alpha Chi, Trumpet and Lutheran Student Association.

MARV OTT was a three-sport letter winner, gathering monograms in football, baseball and basketball. He placed All-Conference twice in football.

DAVE GRUBE was senior class president, a regular "four-pointer" and president of Alpha Chi. He was also president of Tri-Beta and a member of Academic Life Committee.

"W" Club member DICK JEBSEN was class president his sophomore year. He was a Choir member and served as chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

GRACE JAHN was active in journalism as Alpha Phi Gamma president, editorial assistant for the Trumpet and feature editor. She was regional representative of Alpha Chi and last year's Castle editor.

BRUCE BERGQUIST, Alpha Psi Omega president, was active in dramatics. His other activities included Choir and Alpha Chi, of which he was vice-president.

LARRY COLLMAN was student body vice-president as well as an active member of the football squad and of "W" Club. He also served on various student government committees.

K. D. BRINER wrote the humor column for the Trumpet and was chairman of the Constitutions Committee. He claims his column helped put new lights in Old Main.

ANDREA RICHARDSON was another Alpha Chi member. She also belonged to both Castle Singers and Choir during her four years. She was SEA treasurer and was on the Wartburg Hall dorm council.

Juniors -- Next Year's Graduates

Only one year separates the junior class from a college diploma and the status of Wartburg alumni. Three busy years are only past history now.

After numerous drop-outs the first two years, resulting in a loss of over half the original class, the juniors now have about the same number that will graduate next spring. Along with a little aging came more maturity as juniors made big decisions in selecting majors and future vocations.

Class members played a big part in campus activities; juniors were at the head of numerous organizations and in charge of important committees. Academically, four juniors had perfect four-point averages at the end of the first semester.

One of the biggest projects of the class was the sponsoring of the annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom in the early part of May. Preparations for the big event began as soon as school began.

Already leaders, the juniors will be faced with even more opportunities for leadership next year, as the student body chose a full slate of Student Senate officers from the junior class in March.

With only one year of college life left for most of the class, the juniors are looking ahead, not only to their senior year at Wartburg, but also to the days beyond. They have almost completed preparations.

MAN, WHAT A test! I'll be glad to leave for a day or so and forget it.

THESE DECORATIONS DIDN'T die -- they just faded away with the rain.

Sophomores -- 'Wise Fools'

After a long year of supposed suffering, last year's freshmen finally became this year's sophomores, and eagerly awaited their chance to "make the new freshmen squirm." Arranging Squire Days was one of the biggest tasks of the sophomores. Issuing orders of the day and arranging fishpond dunkings, which sometimes backfired, occupied a great deal of their time. These activities were climaxed on Outfly, when the sophomores had their last chance at initiating the freshmen. After Outfly, it became difficult to distinguish the mighty sophomores from the "poor, miserable" freshmen.

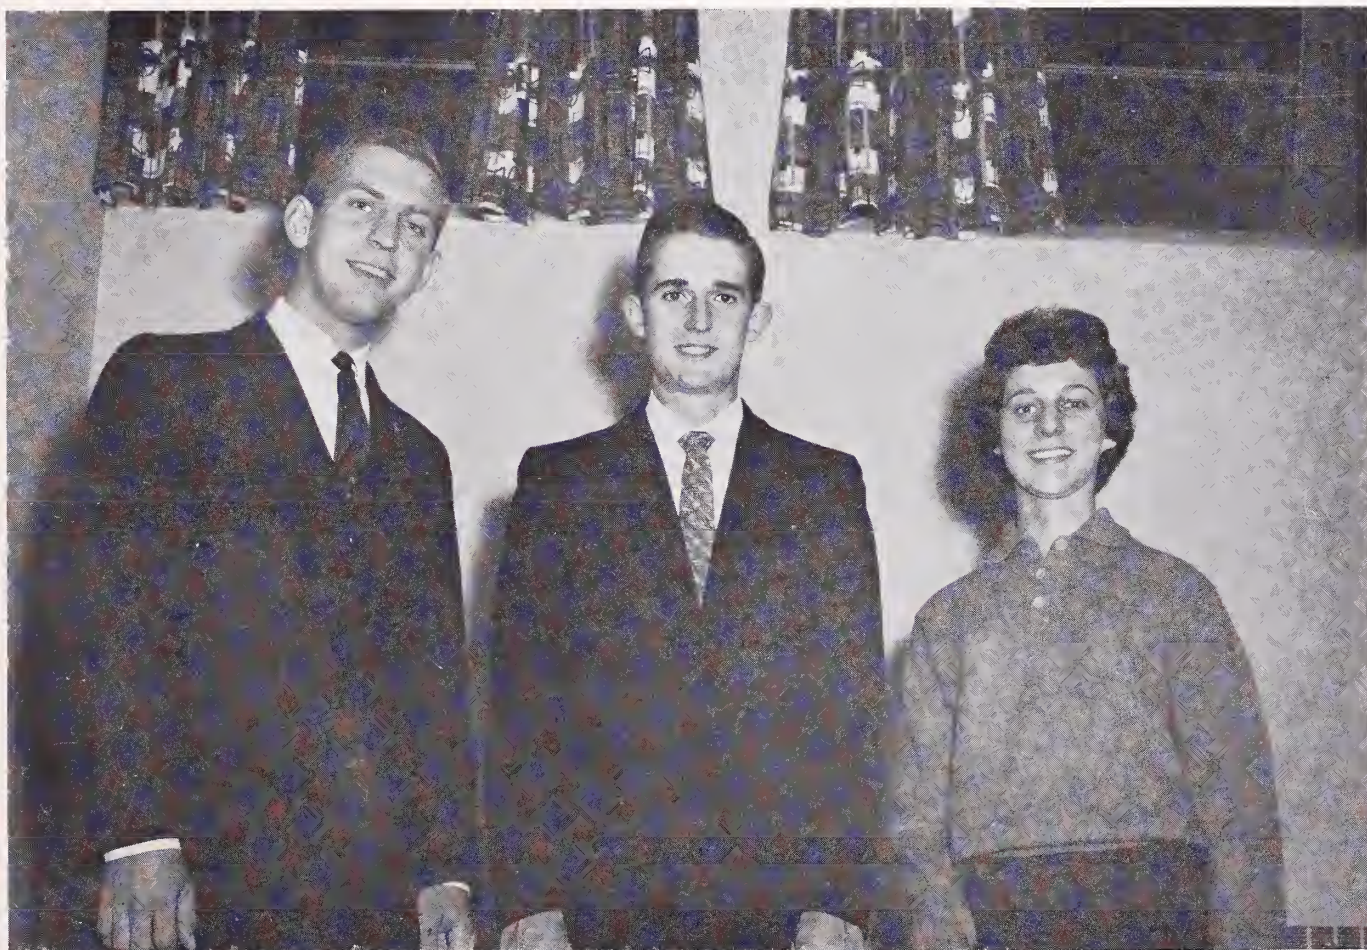

The sophomores' year was not all designed for frivolities, however. They took an active part in clubs and organizations and contributed favorably to sports. They sponsored a sock hop and a Valentine dance. Wherever there was a chance to make money, the sophomores were there, always thinking ahead to the time they would be juniors and would need all the money they could get. But all these activities were fitted into an active schedule.

A note of sadness was sounded on the campus by the news that one of the sophomores, Lavonne Kimpling, had died. She was the president of Wartburg Players, and was greatly missed by all who knew her.

The sophomores may remember this as a varied year, filled with happiness, work and sorrow.

THE MOST FAMILIAR feature of early fall is the long lines everywhere.

Freshmen -- Starting Upward

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS -- P. Wilken, pres.; C. Johnson, treas.; J. Carver, vice-pres.; K. Schardt, sec.

The fall of 1960 brought over 400 squires to the Wartburg castle. Eagerly they had awaited this initial year of their collegiate education.

No sooner had the freshmen become accustomed to the campus than the restrictions of initiation were put into force. The traditional green beanies were abandoned for bright orange ones.

Outfly produced aching limbs as the frosh went through strenuous exercises and snake-danced down Bremer Avenue. Many were also cleansed in the cool depths of the fishpond.

Freshmen proved that they at least had brawn by winning the annual tug-of-war from the upperclassmen. Kangaroo Kort earlier had provided many memorable punishments.

Soon the frosh began to achieve recognition in extracurricular activities and scholastic work as they displayed their abilities. Athletic and music departments especially were influenced by the addition of many new members to their ranks.

After successfully completing initiation, the squires became a solid part of the Wartburg family and have now settled down to seriously joining the other Knights in a quest for education.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT C. H. Becker discusses an issue with Board of Regents president, Dr. Walter Voecks.

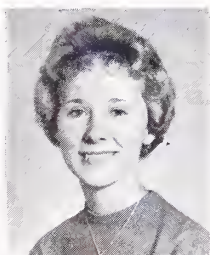

FIFTY YEARS OF teaching and fifty years of marriage made this year a memorable one for Dr. and Mrs. Neumann.

It has been our pleasure to be a part in Wartburg's expansion program by installing the heating and plumbing in the new Chapel-Auditorium Building.
